Al Fiorenza - decorated veteran, entrepreneur laid to rest

By LARZ F. NEILSON
EDITOR EMERITUS

In the summer of 1952, Al Fiorenza got off the train in Wilmington Square, happy to be back home from the Korean conflict. There was no one to greet him, much less offer him a ride. So he shouldered his duffel bag and walked four miles home to Andover Street. In the duffel bag were a Silver Star, a Bronze Star and several other service medals.

It had been an 11,000 mile journey home for the 20-year old veteran, happy to no longer be a corporal in the U.S. Army, happier yet to no longer be in Korea.

Albert G. Fiorenza, a highly-decorated Korean War veteran and prominent Wilmington businessman, died on Friday in Florida. He was 83.

He was a 19-year-old Army corporal when his company was pinned down by machine-gunfire on Oct. 5, 1951 on Heartbreak Ridge, Hill 334, in Korea. He lobbed a hand grenade into a machine-gun nest, putting it out of commission. On the completion of that mission, he was awarded the Silver

Arena board's silence raises questions, concerns

Selectmen frustrated with lack of response.

WILMINGTON - More concerns were raised at the September 22nd Board of Selectman Meeting when the subject of the Investment in Youth Foundation, Inc. (IIFY) was addressed. The Board had previously requested information from the group and to date has received no response.

IIFY, previously named the

Wilmington Arena Authority (WAA), was invited to attend the August 18, 2014 Board of Selectmen meeting, but no one appeared on behalf of that board nor contacted the Town Manager Jeff Hull. IIFY is the non-profit arm of Ristuccia Arena. Previously, WAA was responsible for operating the arena as a non-profit, including scheduling all ice time for local teams, figure skating, and the Boston Bruins practice time. Controversy arose over the summer as Selectmen began to question the operations of the board, which has changed its composition significantly since the arena opened. As previously reported, the organization changed its name in 2005 when the former chair of the arena authority, Al Reidy, passed away and the Ristuccia family negotiated a new lease with Rotundo Enterprises, a for-profit entity.

Hull said in Monday's meeting that another letter had been sent on August 20 to WILMINGTON - Results for the spring 2014 Massachusetts Comprehensive Assessment System (MCAS) testing have been released by the Patrick Administration and The Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE). In Wilmington, MCAS results also bring good news as two schools improve scores over last year.

The Wilmington school district performed at Level 2 again this year, defined as "not meeting gap-narrowing goals." Districts are classified by the lowest performing school. In Wilmington two schools performed at Level 1 - Woburn Street Elementary School and Wilmington High School - both up from Level 2 in 2013. Woburn Elementary and Wilmington High School are among 424 schools within the Commonwealth that met performance benchmarks

Jayne@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - A Lawrence woman was arrested on multiple drug charges last Wednesday evening as the result of an investigation.

Wilmington Police Detectives and members of the Southern Middlesex Regional Drug Task Force arrested Angeliris Diaz, 37, of Lawrence.

Lt. Brian Pupa told the Town Crier that detectives opened an investigation upon receiving information. Police arrested her after observing her allegedly making a drug transaction in the area of 2 Chase Road at approximately 7:20 PM on Wednesday, September 17.

Officer Palmer and K9 Ridic were called to the scene for a drug search of Diaz's vehicle. The search led to the discovery of heroin and cocaine hidden inside a fake hair spray can with a false bottom.

Chase Road is in the Hathaway Acres neighborhood, which lies in close proximity to exit 40, I-93.

Diaz was charged with Distribution of a Class A Substance (heroin), Possession with Intent to Distribute a Class A Substance (heroin), & Possession with Intent to Distribute a Class B Substance (cocaine). She was arraigned in Woburn District Court last week.

Target plans to open cafe

Community invited to Police and Fire Open House

WILMINGTON

Selectmen, all wearing an orange item of clothing supporting

Leukemia Awareness Month, tackled a variety of topics Monday night, including a new restaurant at Target and Fire Prevention week.

Target Team Leader Tom Leach and Trainer Marshall Tucker came before the board to discuss obtaining their Common Victualer License to include a café, a 35-seat Starbucks and Pizza Hut component similar to a food court.

The new store is located at 210 Ballardvale Street and is approximately 130,000 square feet. The store will offer the everyday essentials and brands consumers have come to expect from Target, as well as fresh produce, fresh packaged meat and pre-packaged baked goods. In addition to the Starbucks and Pizza Hut, a Target Pharmacy is planned to open at the store.

Target will open their doors on October 7th for their Very Important Guest event, an Exclusive Preview Invitation to Wilmington Town Officials and Target team members who helped to get the store up and running, including Target executives and employees, and their families and friends.

The store will be open to the public from October 7th through October 12th which is Target's Grand Opening Day.

Victoria Snow, Executive Team Leader of Human Resources when asked about the schedule and upcoming events, said "We're very excited." She added that the Official Mascot of Target Corporation, Bullseye, the dog, will be attending the event as well.

Fire and Police Department Events

Fire Chief Richard T. McLellan talked to the board about the upcoming Fire Prevention Month in October and discussed plans for Fire Fighter talks to grades K-5, which will include Q&A, videos, and DVDs. He added that talks at the Abundant Life School would include grades 1-8. The talks will address different scenarios such as stove use, fireplace safety, and evacuation information.

There will be an open house on October 11 from 11am - 2pm at the Wilmington Public Safety Building with guided tours including Dispatch, Lock-up, and Tower Demonstration. A local vendor will be doing the cooking for the event which also will provide 'give-aways' for the kids.

Selectman Lou Cimaglia thanked both Chief McClellan and Police Chief Michael Begonis for attending the meeting, and highlighted the upcoming Massachusetts Run for the Fallen Military Friends 5K race, saying, "The parents of the fallen from Massachusetts, it means a lot to them."

Cimaglia also respectfully acknowledged Officer Sean Collier, a Wilmington native, who was killed in the line of duty during the Boston Marathon bombing in April 2013.

A 15' by 30' flag has been donated to the Wilmington Fire Department in an effort to publicly thank them for their service.

Selectman Cimaglia also recognized Chief Begonis for the Department's efforts in their crackdown on drug use, citing a recent drug bust in Wilmington. "These kids, he said, "A lot of them are in trouble and in a bad way."

WHEN SHOULD YOU RETIRE?

There are really two questions involved here: when do you want to retire and when can you afford to retire?

Run the numbers before you decide. Though more than half of Americans claim Social Security benefits well before the normal retirement age of 66, delaying retirement until then makes a huge difference in benefits. Better yet are options that utilize spousal benefits and late retirement to really boost benefits. Where possible, it's smart to save 10 to 15 percent of salary, including employer match. Most retirement planners recommend saving enough to replace at least 70 to 85 percent of preretirement income, and withdrawing about 4 percent the first year you retire. You may want to consolidate your IRA and 401(k) accounts, though some offer investment advantages. You want enough savings to fund 25 to 30 years of retirement. And don't forget taxes; IRA withdrawals are taxed as ordinary income.

Published Sept. 6, 1962

Silver Lake, Monday, was just as quiet as if it were an ordinary weekday in, say, late September. Only three kiddoes were at the beach during the morning for a swim, and the lifeguard occupied some of his time taking in the summer gear, no longer to be used this season, as Labor Day was the last day of the season at Silver Lake. It used to be that Silver Lake was a very busy place on Labor Day, but the automobile has changed all that. People now go to the White Mountains, or anywhere else, for the holiday — anything but stay at home.

For the past decade or so, there have been attempts to rejuvenate the good old times, but these attempts too have fallen by the wayside.

The lifeguards had instituted swimming events and races for labor Day, with prizes for the winners derived directly from the profits of the beach canteen.

Last year, there was no canteen, and the merchants put up some prizes, but not too many kids appeared. Their parents had taken them elsewhere.

So in the year 1962, there was nothing but an expanse of water and a lonely lifeguard.

Forty years ago, when there weren't millions of cars to clog the highways, it was a different story at Silver Lake. Labor Day, then, was a big three-day event with a horribles parade, games of chance and a dare-devil balloonist.

The Silver Lake Men's Club was a live-wire organization, with a Silver Lake Hall on Grove Avenue (later an apartment house) where early day movies were occasionally shown for the enjoyment of the kiddoes, and all sorts of things happened, most of them wonderful, for the children of that age.

On the Saturday before

Labor Day there was a horribles parade, with hundreds of contestants. The parade would march practically around the lake ending at the Men's Club, where the judges used to stand.

Then everyone would go over to the ballfield (which no longer exists) on Cottage Street, where there would be a carnival, the largest in Middlesex County or possibly all of Massachusetts.

There was always a steam-driven merry-go-round, which Elmer Southmayd used to operate. Elmer was nicknamed "Squeaky" because of his high-pitched voice. Elmer was a mechanical genius, possibly born a century too soon. He took delight in mechanical contrivances, and could fix anything. But in those days, a mechanical genius was not a highly paid man, and Elmer had all he could do to rustle up food for his numerous brood.

But Elmer would importantly fire up the boiler and then push the levers that made the merry-go-round go 'round, and he enjoyed the proceedings even more than did the kids who rode round and round for a nickel.

There were games of chance galore, and there were many other innocent games amusement. The event went on for three days, with time off for church services, and there was always a big wind-up on Labor Day night.

The balloonist, who first came in at the end of the big fairs of the Silver Lake Men's Club, was probably the biggest event to occur in the lives of the Lakers of that day. As we recall it, he appeared at three Labor Day fairs in succession, and then was killed in a fall, somewhere near Taunton.

The balloon was of the hot-air variety. A pair of ginpoles were set up, always near the merry-go-round, where Elmer could keep an eye on them, and the empty balloon would be suspended from ropes that hung from the two poles.

The mouth of the balloon would be over a sort of chimney, which was at the end of an underground tunnel, at the other end of which was the place for a fire.

At the appointed time on Labor Day afternoon, the balloonist would appear in person, suitably decked out for flying, as it was imagined to be necessary in those days. He would be wearing jodpuhrs, and leather puttees, with an old-fashioned leather aviator's helmet and goggles.

Under the balloon's skirts he would disappear, putting his parachute into the interior of the balloon, probably in a receptacle designed for that purpose, and then he would emerge, wearing his harness, to face the hundreds of hungry eyes of the children, women and men who had come to watch his death-defying stunt.

A fire would be started in the pit by someone, maybe Mike Barry, and for an hour or so (perhaps it was only 20 minutes, but it seemed like an hour) Mike, Elmer and others would take turns throwing cups of kerosene into the fire.

As the heat increased, it would go into the interior of the balloon, which soon began to expand, held in place by the guy-lines from the ginpoles and 50 or 100 volunteer "anchor-men" who clutched the edges of the balloon, to keep it on the ground.

The flames would leap higher and higher, and soon one could see them, in silhouette, in the interior of the balloon. Meanwhile, of course, the dare-devil balloonist would be telling the ladies how he would pull the rip-cord when he felt the balloon beginning to descend, and how there wasn't any real danger, etc. etc. and how he wouldn't snag any of the homes as he floated over them, because his balloon would be over 1000 feet in the air.

Finally, the balloon was full. And then came the Big Moment!

The volunteer anchor-men would be straining to keep it from soaring away. The intrepid aviator would take a glance around him, then grasp the straps which held his parachute harness, and order, "Let go!"

Dozens of Model T Fords would be standing by, for that moment, motors running and drivers in their seats.

As the balloon soared off into the Wild Blue Yonder, it would be carried by the wind, and the motorists would attempt to chase it.

There were not as many streets in Wilmington in those days, and chasing a balloon in Model T was quite an adventure in itself. If, for instance, the balloon should head over towards the West School on Shawsheen Avenue, there were only two ways to go to get there — either by Bridge Lane or by Lake Street. The Fords would split into two groups, one going each way. Then, meeting at the school, they would probably learn, that the balloon had altered its drift in a higher strata of wind, and had gone over Silver Lake towards North Wilmington.

It must be recorded that no accident ever befell the Daredevil Balloonist while he was in Wilmington. He would soar around for a while and then descend, and he never even dropped into the lake, to the intense disappointment of many of the younger boys, and perhaps some of the older and very old.

It was awe-inspiring event, and there may be picture albums in Wilmington today that show pictures of the Dare Devil hanging, suspended from his balloon, as he soared off into space.

But today everyone motors off to the White Mountains or elsewhere on Labor Day, and Silver Lake is just a quiet village on what used to be its Day of Days.

Tisei visits Wilmington recycling company

Endorsed by business group; announces jobs plan

WILMINGTON /LYNNFIELD - On Tuesday, Richard Tisei, who is running for Congress in the 6th District, toured Wilmington based OPRSystems on Andover Street on a campaign stop.

Founded in 1989, OPRSystems, Inc. is an independently owned and operated recycling facility. The company offers solutions for individual, commercial and industrial organizations with all types of waste paper, shredding and document destruction requirements.

In 2004, OPRSystems expanded from an 18,000 square foot facility to a 76,000 square foot processing facility to accommodate the growing number of clients and recyclable materials including cardboard, cans & bottles and electronics.

Later in the day, Richard received the NFIB SAFE Trust endorsement from the National Federation of Independent Business, calling him a "proven leader who will help end gridlock in Washington and kick start the economy."

"Richard has spent his life helping the people of Massachusetts in the State Legislature and in his small business. We endorse Richard Tisei's bid for Congress because he knows the enormous effort it takes to run a small business," said Bill Vernon, NFIB's Massachusetts State Director.

Based in Nashville, Tennessee, the NFIB is a non-partisan association of more than 350,000 small and independent business owners across the nation.

Tisei held a press conference to announce the endorsement and outline his "Jobs for Our Neighbors" plan, which includes the actions he will take in Congress to help Massachusetts' job creators.

The event was held at Tisei's own small business, Northrup Realtors on Tuesday morning. The business is located on Main Street in Lynnfield, just down the street from where Tisei was born and raised.

"There are common-sense solutions to help our economy grow. We should repeal the medical device tax, protect our defense jobs, and reinstate the 40-hour work week. We also need to make sure our fishing fleet isn't stranded by cumbersome regulations and that our community banks compete on an even playing field with the giants of Wall Street," Tisei said. "I live on Main Street in Wakefield and work on Main Street in Lynnfield. I know what it takes for small businesses to thrive in today's economy and I know that too often the federal government gets in the way of our job creators," Tisei said.

Tisei has made helping small businesses a centerpiece of his campaign for Congress, and has received the endorsement of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the NFIB, two of the largest pro-growth organizations in America.

"Richard is an independent and bipartisan leader, and I admire his ability to work across the aisle to get things done for Massachusetts," Vernon said. "He understands the importance of small businesses in our economy, and will be a strong advocate in Washington."

RMLD Board reforms surplus equipment disposal, sets plan for future

The Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) Board of Commissioners (Board) substantially tightened procedures for disposing of surplus vehicles and other surplus public property. By a 4-0 vote taken Monday night, the Board enacted a policy that bans sales to employees and their immediate families, ends the practice of offering surplus material free to the four towns RMLD serves, and enhances marketing requirements and oversight.

RMLD operates the electricity distribution grid serving 29,000 customers in Reading, North Reading, Wilmington and Lynnfield. Assets are owned by the Town of Reading but, under state law, RMLD is governed as a separate entity. Its finances and Board actions have always been open to public review.

The Board's policy fix comes at a time when RMLD is undertaking numerous new initiatives. These include replacing aging transformers to reduce energy losses and avoid failures that can produce costly oil spills; moving forward with LED streetlights to reduce town government energy costs; and implementing a first-ever mass communications strategy to manage peak loads during heat waves. These and other efforts will reduce RMLD costs and help limit emissions that are associated with electricity generation.

For the long term, RMLD is in the process of launching organizational and reliability studies. The results of these studies will provide RMLD with a roadmap to engineer a smarter and more reliable grid and define future business models in the face of long-term pressures on the traditional electric utility business.

Long-range ideas include a return to local electricity generation, implementation of extensive demand-management capacity, and monetizing the RMLD's existing, but underutilized, fiber optic communications loop.

All of these initiatives have been launched under General Manager Coleen O'Brien, who assumed the post in July of 2013. RMLD is also in the process of working with constituent towns' Economic Development Committees to try to attract new business, in part by marketing the Department's low electricity prices and high reliability.

The Board's action on equipment disposal followed questions raised earlier this year over the sale of three surplus trucks. The sale of these vehicles—bucket trucks having a number of uses—was carried out under a disposal policy in place for at least a decade.

Under this policy, surplus vehicles were first offered to the Town Managers and Town DPW managers of the four towns served by RMLD. The trucks would have been given away for free to those towns. None of the eight managers expressed interest in the trucks.

Next, an ad was placed in Middlesex East. This ad, which reached local newspapers in ten towns, produced a single bid, totaling $350 for all three trucks, from an employee of RMLD. The sale was approved at a middle-management layer, as set forth in policy. Questions about the sale were later aired in an anonymous letter to the Town.

Diorio and Alves admitted to Colby-Sawyer College

Michael Diorio of Wilmington, Mass., has been admitted to Colby-Sawyer College as a member of the class of 2018. Diorio is a(n) Child Development major.

Also, Christine Alves of Tewksbury, Mass., has been admitted to Colby-Sawyer College as a member of the class of 2018. Alves is a(n) Nursing major.

Colby-Sawyer College is a

In a review sought by Talbot, Melanson Heath, a firm that serves as auditor for the Town of Reading and RMLD, found RMLD "acted substantially in accordance with RMLD Policy... as well as with the procedures outlined in Chapter 7 of The Chapter 30B Manual published by the Massachusetts Office of the Inspector General."

In her initial response to the matter, O'Brien had barred surplus equipment sales administratively and ordered a legal review that found sales to employees—and thus the policy itself—may have violated state law. In mid-July the employee agreed to return the vehicles. The purchase price was refunded and the trucks returned to Department ownership on July 24.

An RMLD-ordered legal review of all RMLD policies is continuing. And finally, RMLD staff and board members worked extensively with Sharon Angstrom, the Town Accountant, providing her with detailed maintenance records and photos of the trucks.

While speculation from a number of sources has valued the trucks substantially higher, the newly approved policy will allow RMLD to determine actual fair market value and garner the best price when the trucks are re-bid.

Last month the Board of Selectmen placed an article on the Town Meeting war-comprehensive college that integrates the liberal arts and sciences with professional preparation. Founded in 1837, Colby-Sawyer is located in the scenic Lake Sunapee Region of central New Hampshire.

Vote 'No' on Bottle Bill

I love citizen's initiative petitions, which afford the public the ability to correct the legislature's wrongs. Question 2 on the ballot this November, however, represents little more than another money grab, and Beacon Hill knows it.

If passed, the expanded bottle bill will add a 5 cent deposit to juice, iced tea, sports drinks, flavored water, and water bottles, in an effort, say proponents, to reduce these items as trash along roadsides and parks. The effort is largely supported by environmental groups like Mass. Audubon, MassPIRG, the Sierra Club, the Environmental League of Massachusetts, and the League of Women Voters. The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection also advocates passage of the bill on its website, saying it will save municipalities money (about $7 million annually), offer cleaner public spaces, and create jobs. What's not to like?

So, why for the last ten years has Beacon Hill not passed this legislation or even brought it to the floor for a vote?

Plain and simple, it's a transparent money grab, not to mention an inefficient way to encourage more recycling.

In 2011, $33.5 million in bottle deposits was left in state coffers, unredeemed by consumers who recycled at the curb rather than at redemption centers. The new bill will establish a Clean Environment Fund, that proponents hope the legislature will divert unredeemed deposits into, but the law doesn't require that.

Better yet, if passed, the Secretary of Energy and Environmental Affairs can raise the deposit amount every five years, pegged to the Consumer Price Index (see my column from last week for more on indexing taxes). That's another hand in your wallet without a vote of the legislature or citizens.

Recycling to redeem deposits is a hassle. Standing in line at the grocery store is time consuming and few people do it. Redemption centers across the state have closed their doors, including right in Tewksbury, because business was too slow and fees for centers too low. The infrastructure to handle bottle redemption for the expanded bottle bill doesn't currently exist.

When the bottle bill was initially passed in 1983, curbside recycling was non-existent and the deposit system effectively reduced litter.

Now, with curbside recycling, municipalities are recycling at increasing rates and doing so efficiently, with 83 percent of people that recycle doing so at the curb.

Opponents point out that in order to accommodate the expansion, more trucks will be on highways to collect those recyclables - not exactly environmentally friendly.

Additionally, the cost for recycling a ton of material at the curb is ¼ to 1/3 the cost of the current bottle bill. Bringing more bottles and cans to the store or redemption centers actually costs MORE to recycle than curbside recycling.

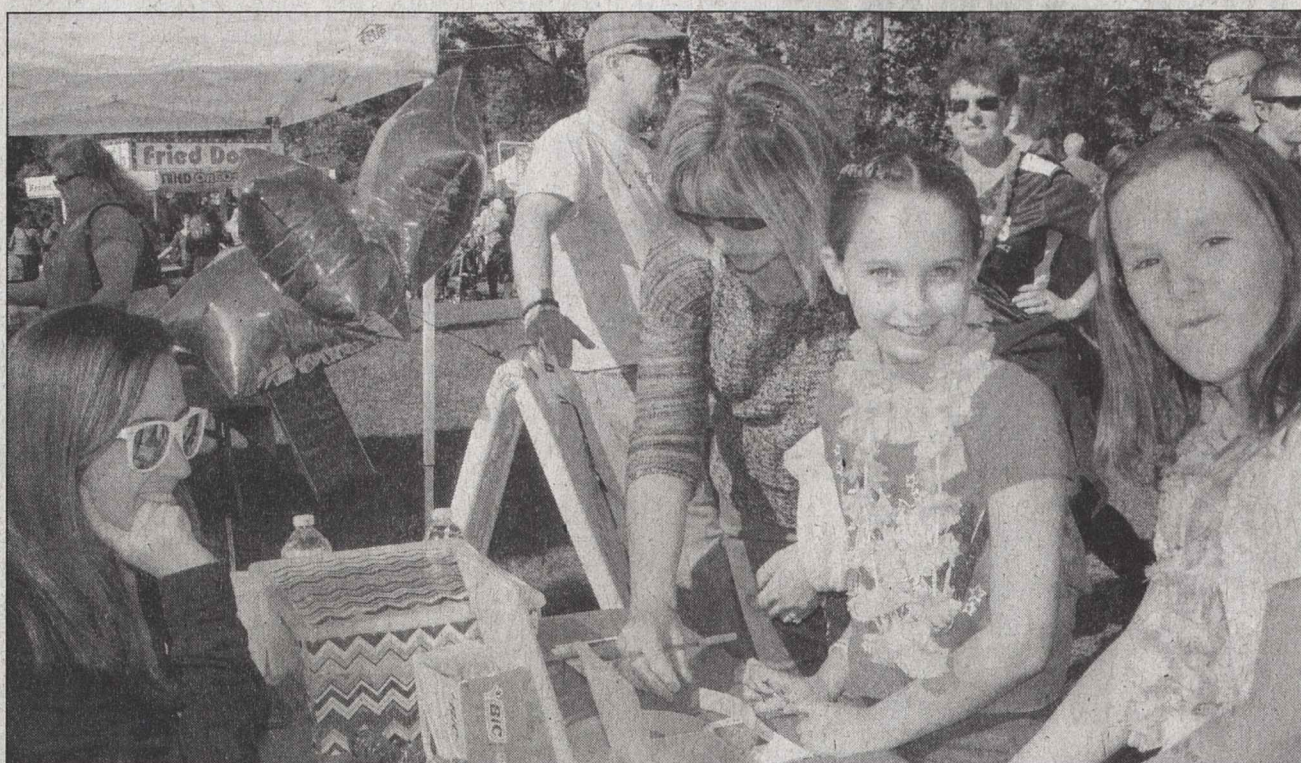

Tewksbury and Wilmington both provide single stream curbside recycling, a more effective means of recycling offering the least hassle to residents. With the new toters in Tewksbury, even fewer bottles and cans end up as lawn trash, no longer blown out of open bins on pick-up day.

But the new bottle bill chooses to bypass what we know already works. It is estimated to increase recycling by less than one percent, but will boost revenues from deposits at $20 million annually. Consumers, as always, will be stuck with the bill, paying $58 million in higher operating costs borne by beverage retailers and distributors as well as $60 million in deposits.

While proponents tout new jobs in the recycling sector to handle the increase in redemption, the record on job creation with bottle bill expansion is less clear. In New York in 2009, a more modest bottle bill expansion resulted in job losses due to plant closures and dislocations. Retailers will have to pay for more employees to handle recycling, since most automated machines won't take back all these bottles. Hiring new workers and investing in new machines will just raise prices to the consumer. Even industry unions representing drivers, plant workers, and beverage container machinists, oppose Question 2.

Bottom line, expanding this bill will cost consumers more money at the grocery store, will cost more per ton to recycle than existing curbside programs, will increase recycling negligibly, and will put more taxpayer money in state government to spend.

Doing more to improve local curbside programs, such as Tewksbury has with the new automated, single stream program, will keep streets cleaner, increase recycling effectively, and keep more of our money where it belongs - in our wallets.

How to enjoy September

by Scott Mullooney

September is the brightest and most beautiful month in New England.

It arrives quickly and leaves us even faster. There are ways to savor every moment of the ninth month while its still here. All you have to do is make an effort to focus on all the positivity around you. Here are seven tips to guide you through your mid-September journey:

1.) Pretend it's still August. The weather is warm enough, and if you close your eyes and let the soft afternoon breeze of a September Saturday blow over you, you might for a moment believe the summer isn't over yet.

2.) Put off impending Fall chores because you still have summer chores to do. Then, put off your end-of-summer chores by using the impending Fall as an excuse. You'll be surprised how easily this works. The only drawback is you don't get anything accomplished. But you can do it all next spring.

3.) Take a long walk. Stop, look and listen to your surroundings. You'll be amazed at what you see and hear along the way. The beauty of nature is all around us. You just have to open your eyes and look for it. It's sometimes hidden, but it's there.

4.) Take a pre-leaf peeping drive before the leaves change color. The trees are beautiful right now while Mother Nature revels in her end-of-summer glory. Light jacket weather is perfect for a Sunday drive. Hop on Route 28 North and follow it as far as you can. You won't regret it.

5.) Hike the Fells. Follow the cool shade of the pines through forgotten forest paths and for a moment you'll think you're in the magical land from J.R.R. Tolkien's Lord of The Rings. Just remember to bring a compass, so you don't end up in the black depths of Mordor.

6.) September is the perfect month for attending flea markets and yard sales. If you schedule your time correctly and meticulously map out your route, you can spend the whole day perusing other people's cast-away items. Maybe you'll find a hidden treasure while browsing. Bring lots of single dollar bills and hone your bargaining skills. Or if you're feeling really ambitious, host a yard sale of your own.

7.) Breathe. Just breathe. The air is slightly cooler. A hint of fall is delicately hidden behind summer's fading scents of heat and humidity. A once welcomed sea breeze is now a harbinger of things to come. Just take a moment to enjoy the bright yellow sunshine and the deep blue sky.

There's still one weekend left in this glorious month. Hopefully we'll enjoy a spectacular stretch of weather as the slow slide into fall begins. Take advantage of it while you can. This is New England, and you never know what lurks around the corner.

The Boston Globe's September 22 editorial calling for only two of the five candidates officially on the ballot for governor - Democratic candidate Martha Coakley and Republican candidate Charlie Baker - to be in their upcoming debates is appalling. More than ever, the public needs news organizations to deliver facts and balanced context to voters in great need of information. The Globe's sad effort to exclude three of the five candidates, including me, from debates is a disservice to voters who understandably want to learn more about their candidate options for governor.

Given that I have already been invited to participate in several other candidate debates - including debates sponsored by WBZ-TV/CBS Boston, MassINC, the Western Mass. Media Consortium and the Worcester Telegram & Gazette - the Globe's editorial shows a form of exclusionary - and outdated - snobbery.

It is clear that this decision is based on the fact that the three Independent candidates - the ones the Globe calls "lesser" candidates - do not belong to the private organizations known as the Democratic and Republican parties. This is pathetic. Particularly galling was that the Globe, in its editorial, chose to frame its argument as some sort of public service for voters - as if voters would be unable to process the positions and views of more than just the two major-party candidates. The people of Massachusetts can handle a grown-up, inclusive conversation.

It is not journalism to exclude from debates duly qualified candidates who have delivered tens of thousands of voter signatures to earn a slot on the ballot, and who have thousands of supporters, volunteers and staffers participating each day in this campaign. It's stacking the deck, and is a perversion of the public interest. The fact that the Globe's own political editor, Cynthia Needham, has for more than a year refused to even return calls or emails to my campaign speaks volumes about what the Globe apparently had in mind for their debates all along.

If this decision was based on poll numbers, consider how jarringly wrong the Globe's poll numbers were for several of the candidates in the primaries.

I urge the Globe to reconsider this misguided direction. We need political journalists to act as a watchdog of government - not a smokescreen. It's "We the people," not "We, some of the people."

WILMINGTON - If you've driven down Eames Street in the past few months you probably noticed a company on the right, just over the bridge, with a small sign and an on-going yard sale. It's not really a yard sale, more like cleaning house. Old furniture and work benches are making way for high tech machines

United Tool & Die now known as United Tool & Manufacturing or UTM has been getting ready for National Manufacturing Day. If you watch the Science Channel you've seen promos for their How It's Made show, which will feature companies from all over the country doing the things they do to make this country work.

You could sit and watch or, on October 3rd join in!

They have been modernizing the plant, upgrading and hiring - Yes! Hiring! CEO and owner Scott Fallavollita bought the company a few years ago, and a couple of

When the client wants it all. This piece is cut from the original piece with a process called Electrical Discharge Machining (EDM). A brass wire only .001 of an inch thick has a current passed through it to cut out the "dog bone" shaped piece, which will be used to test the strength of welds. EDM is used as the client wants the original material returned, without any stress put to it. EDM erodes electrically with no stress to either the part or the original. Photo by BruceHilliard.com

Let's Talk About Hearing

by Lolly Wigall

10 % have hearing loss

Hearing loss usually occurs gradually. Hearing loss sneaks up on people. The world slowly becomes quieter. We don't hear the birds anymore. How do you know you are missing something when you can't hear it?

The grandchildren begin to mumble. Those teenagers are talking under their breath. The volume on the television is getting higher because the sound is too soft. I can't hear someone talking from the other room. I just hear mumbling. It just isn't as fun to go out to eat in a restaurant anymore. The restaurants are so noisy that hearing others at the table is difficult.

With about ten percent of Americans with a hearing loss, you would believe that hearing testing is a routine part of every physical? People I see had their last hearing test in grammar school. And, that test was only a screening. And, most people do not have a hearing evaluation in their medical record.

Most insurance plans will pay for a complete audiological evaluation. Some require a referral from your primary care physician. Audiologists perform complete hearing tests. There are components of a hearing test that involve speech understanding and clarity. The nerve of hearing is tested to see if the loss can be treated medically. If the loss is sensori-neural then hearing aids are usually recommended.

Hearing loss is generally undertreated. When a patient sees their physician there are more pressing issues such as blood pressure, illness, cancer, broken bones, and falls. Hearing loss is not top priority. Physicians have limited time with each patient. Unless a patient or family members brings up the problem, it goes unaddressed.

About 40 % of people with hearing loss wear hearing aids. That means that sixty percent of people with hearing loss are missing hearing the grandchildren. Those sixty percent are missing at least some of the conversations at work. They may be misunderstanding what the boss has asked them to do.

People over fifty years old have a higher chance of having a hearing loss. Those baby-boomers have experienced loud concerts. They have used power tools such as snow blowers, leaf blowers, lawn mowers, power saws without the benefit of hearing protection. They are a risk for hearing loss.

Don't be a statistic. Get a hearing test for your medical record. But, mostly, get a hearing test for yourself so you won't miss out.

Let's Hear it!!

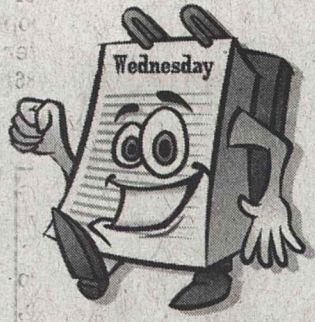

Your Two Cents...

Double selling parking?

I have purchased a monthly permit to park at the North Billerica train depot but unless I go early, I do not get a space. Why are they allowed to sell a space twice? The space shortage is due to construction being done at the Lowell train stop. THEY ARE DOUBLE DIPPING! If I purchase a spot, that is one less spot they should be allowed to collect a fare for. The number of spots available on the payment box should be restricted. This needs to be addressed now, there are even fewer spots once the snow falls.

Tewksbury Resident and until now, Happy Commuter.

Scouts hike peak to honor 9/11 victims

TEWKSBURY - Boy Scout Troop 47 of Tewksbury participated in Flags-on-the-48 (www.flagsonthe48.org) in New Hampshire's White Mountains again this year. Simultaneously, other groups flew flags atop forty-seven other peaks in the White Mountains. The troop has been participating in this event since 2006.

The troop flew the American flag on Mt. Willey, Saturday, September 13th from noon to 2pm, to honor the victims of 9/11. This year the troop met up with members of Troop 83 from Salem, MA. The scouts welcomed many visitors who signed the guest book. The hike up the Ethan Pond Trail was 2.7 miles long. It was a tough hike. Near the top it was very steep. One section had manmade ladders the troop had to climb. The scouts carried the equipment needed to raise a flag pole and cook lunch at the top. The weather was a little overcast, but cleared enough to give some great views of the surrounding peaks. They were visited up close by a helicopter taking pictures of all 48 peaks flying flags for the event.

The troop brought along a listing of all of the victims, with special mention of those with local connections: Peter Hashem and Peter Gay of Tewksbury, Brian Kinney of Lowell, and Andrew Curry Green of Santa Monica, CA. Green was a staff member at the Wah-tut-ca Scout Reservation in Northwood, NH, where the troop spends a week each summer.

Troop 47 meets Wednesday nights from 7:00PM to 8:30PM at the First Congregational Church in Tewksbury. Boy Scouts is for all boys in Grades 6th thru 12. Boy Scouts offers great experiences in the outdoors as well as leadership training opportunities. Many scouts have commented on how much scouting prepares you to fill out college applications. For information about joining Troop 47 contact Scout Master Michael Puleo at 978-640-8861 or mikep54653@aol.com.

Historical Society will host "Purple Heather and Union Blue" on Saturday

The Tewksbury Historical Society will hold a public talk on "Purple Heather and Union Blue" on Saturday, September 27, 2014 starting at 1:00pm at the Tewksbury Public Library. The Society will hold its election of Officers at the beginning of this Special Meeting. At 2:00 the business meeting will be over and a talk will be given on Jackson Thornton Dawson's life in 1861.

Dawson was visiting in Tewksbury as a young man. He stopped by a farmhouse on Livingston House where Margaret and John Strachan lived with their daughters. The girls found some heather growing in a Livingston field. They picked some and then placed it on their kitchen table in a vase. Dawson stopped by to visit the girls. He worked in a nursery in Andover and questioned what the Heather was and where did they find it growing? That is the beginning of a summer that Mr. Dawson became famous in the world of Horticulture. He also found out about being a Union soldier. After the Scot's Heather Follies in July/August, he enlisted in the Union Army's 19th Regiment and left for the South leaving behind his heather medal he won from the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. Little did he know he would win another medal from being in the Civil War?

Hear more about this fascinating Tewksbury story on Sept. 27. It will be held in the Tewksbury Library and a social hour will follow the election and historical presentation.

The Society Store will feature maps of Tewksbury for sale in the store. The afternoon program is free to the public and of course the members of the Society should be in attendance.

Learn more about the Society programs like the Line-of-March. The Line-of-March is being proposed to memorialize Revolutionary War Veterans and it will have an educational component to educate Tewksbury about its Revolutionary War past. The trail was basically East Street to Lee Street and right on Chandler Street to the town line.

Ninety-seven Tewksbury men marched to face the British Redcoats in the Battle of Lexington-Concord. Some of the same men fought them all the way to Cambridge. Tewksbury had a company of men in the Battle of Bunker Hill and they were 33 strong in the thick of the battle. Several men were killed, captured and put in jail. Several also were wounded. One Tewksbury man who was captured was put in jail in Boston and was taken to New Brunswick as a prisoner of war. He escaped, walked, hiked, and took a boat from Maine to Salem, Massachusetts where he walked home to Tewksbury several years later to surprise his Tewksbury family. It is an interesting year for wars.

The Civil War is wrapping up its last year of the Civil War. The First World War will celebrate its 100th anniversary this year. And we in Tewksbury can be proud of fighting for freedom in the Battle of Lexington-Concord. This was a local history event and a regional history event and a Massachusetts historical event and certainly "the Shot heard 'round the World" was a World historical event.

The Society is a tax-exempt, non-profit organization dedicated to preserving, education, and helping people do research into Tewksbury history. Volunteers are needed to grow the society so come and join on Sept. 27 to the Tewksbury Public Library for a historical Saturday afternoon. We meet in the Local History Room of the Tewksbury Public Library every second and fourth Tuesday of every month.

Albert G. Fiorenza, Sr.

Wilmington businessman, entrepreneur; Captain Commanding of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company; Holder of Silver and Bronze Stars

WILMINGTON / FT. LAUDERDALE, FL - Albert G. Fiorenza, Sr. of Ft. Lauderdale, FL and a former longtime resident of Wilmington passed away peacefully at his home on September 19, 2014 following a period of declining health. He was 83 years of age. Born in Medford he was one of fourteen children of the late Joseph J. and Evelyn Fiorenza.

"Al" as he was affectionately known to his family and friends lived in Medford as a young boy before moving with his family to Wilmington where attended Wilmington Schools. Al was a proud and highly decorated combat veteran of the Korean War. He honorably served as a Corporal in the United States Army with 1st Calvary Division. He was the recipient of the Silver Star, the third highest combat medal in the U.S. military, for his gallantry in action against an armed enemy. He was also the recipient of the Bronze Star, 2 Purple Hearts, Combat Infantry Badge, Korean Service Medal with 2 bronze service stars and the Good Conduct Medal.

When Al returned home to Wilmington from the war, he began working in the coffee truck business and soon became very successful. He later expanded his business and owned and operated Kustom Katerers Inc. which helped large businesses with feeding their employees. Always the entrepreneur, Al then opened and operated the ALCO Leasing and Sales Co that sold and leased state of the art canteen trucks. Al eventually turned the site of the ALCO Company on West Street into the well-known, Casa di Fior Function Facility, that he successfully owned and operated for over forty years. Al was also the owner operator of the Three Cheers Restaurant in Boston from 1982 to 2006, and was a partner in the DeCosta Sausage Co. of Woburn for many years. Al even worked as a successful real estate developer and was the owner of the Andover Heights Development Co. for several years.

Al was a senior life member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts and proudly served as the Captain Commanding from 1999-2000. In his leisure time he enjoyed golfing and was a member of the Indian Ridge Golf Club in Andover and also enjoyed raising and showing Arabian Horses. Al loved to travel and was fortunate enough to travel the world over, however nothing gave him more joy than his family. He was truly devoted to them and cherished all the many times that they were together as a family celebrating holidays and special family events.

Al is lovingly survived by his children; Albert G. Fiorenza Jr. and Barry W. Fiorenza, both of Florida, Paul J. Fiorenza and his wife Shary of Wilmington, Lee Ann Fiorenza of Salem, Robin Fiorenza Macdonald and her husband Douglas of Wilmington, Milana Fiorenza Smith and her husband Sean of Texas. He was the loving grandfather of Angela, Sabrina, Albert III, Paul II, Arianna, Bianca, Andrew, Alex, Gianna, and Mason and was the loving great grandfather of Anson. He was the Brother of Anna Reinold, Evelyn Detesio, Arlene MacLean, Maryann Carey, James, George, Lawrence and Edward Fiorenza, the late Camille Evans, Carl, Joseph, Richard and Paulette Fiorenza. He is also survived by his devoted friends and caregiver, Beatrice Louissaint of Ft. Lauderdale, FL.

Funeral services were held from the Dello Russo Funeral Home, 374 Main St., Wilmington, Wednesday, September 24th, at 9 a.m. followed by a funeral mass celebrated in St. Augustine's Church, Andover, at 10 a.m. Relatives and friends were respectfully invited to attend.

Visiting hours at the Dello Russo Funeral Home were held on Tuesday from 4 through 8 p.m. He was buried with military honors and burial at Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. In lieu of flowers contributions may be made in Al's memory to the Wounded Warrior Project, PO Box 758517, Topeka, KS 66675 or Local Heroes Inc., P.O. Box 536, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Thomas M. Flaherty

Heavy machine and crane operator for the Amstar Domino Sugar Company

WILMINGTON - Thomas M. Flaherty, age 75, of Wilmington, died peacefully at home surrounded by his family on September 22, 2014, following a courageous battle with cancer.

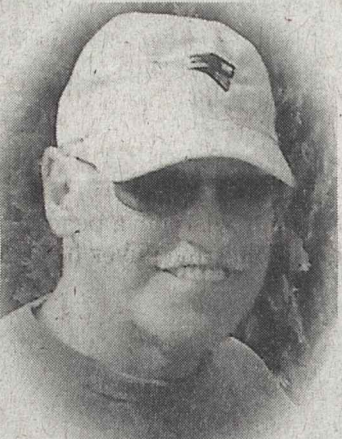

Tom was born on November 7, 1938, in Boston, MA; he was an identical twin to his brother Joseph and son of the late Thomas J. and Aurelia A. (LaVoie) Flaherty. Tom was raised in Roxbury, MA.

Tom married the love of his life, "his bride," Marion C. Nielsen on November 13, 1965. Tom and Marion lived in Dorchester for several years before moving to Wilmington in August of 1976; Tom loved his home in the "country" and enjoyed working around his yard. Tom and Marion raised two beautiful daughters Lorraine and Christine; Tom cherished his role as a "dad" and he was always there with his unconditional love and support for his family.

Tom and Marion were inseparable for nearly 50 years of marriage; they enjoyed traveling to Las Vegas and Bar Harbor, Maine, taking long walks along the Ipswich River, spending time playing cribbage or watching Patriots and Bruins games over the years. They were always together and were truly "best friends".

When Tom became a grandfather to his five grandsons, Tyler, Justin, Calvin, Trevor, and Kyle, his whole world became a lot brighter. Tom cherished the times he spent with the boys playing baseball, football, teaching them how to punt, and going fishing. Tom attended all of the boys' school activities and sporting events; he was always their biggest fan.

Prior to retiring, Tom worked as a heavy machine and crane operator for the Amstar Domino Sugar Company.

Tom will be fondly be remembered for his great sense of humor. He was kind, strong, caring, and always doing for others. His devotion to his family and friends was always his priority and he will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved him.

Tom was the beloved husband of Marion C. (Nielsen) Flaherty, devoted father of Lorraine A. Murray of Merrimac, MA and Christine M. Breen & her husband Greg of Wilmington, MA, loving "Gramps" of Tyler, Justin, Calvin, Trevor, and Kyle, son of the late Thomas J. and Aurelia A. (LaVoie) Flaherty, brother of Barbara Gove of Hanover, the late Carol Nagel, Helen Pitman, and his twin brother Joseph Flaherty. Tom is further survived by nieces and nephews.

Family and friends will gather for a Funeral Service at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington, on Monday, September 29th at 11:00 a.m. Interment will follow in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington.

Visiting hours will be held at the Funeral Home on Sunday, September 28th from 3:00 - 6:00 p.m. Memorial donations in Thomas' name may be made to Care Dimensions, 75 Sylvan St., Suite B-102, Danvers, MA 01923.

Karen E. MacMillan

Administrative secretary for H. B. Fuller Co.

WILMINGTON - Karen E. (Nilson) MacMillan, age 72, of Derry, N.H., formerly a long-time resident of Wilmington and Tewksbury, passed away at the Tufts New England Medical Center on September 18, 2014.

Karen was born on November 16, 1941 in Medford, MA; she was the cherished daughter of the late Anton and Alice Nilson. Karen was raised in Arlington Heights and was a graduate of Arlington High School.

Karen was introduced to the love of her life, Richard H. MacMillan, by a close family member; the two were inseparable and married in October of 1960. Karen and Richard lived in Wakefield for a few short years, before settling in Wilmington in 1963, where they raised their three sons; Richard, Jr., James and Lee. Karen and Richard loved their "annual trips" camping with their boys; a tradition that she continued with her grandsons. The couple enjoyed making many fond memories with their family before Richard's untimely passing in October of 1988.

Prior to retiring, Karen worked as an administrative secretary for the H. B. Fuller Company (formally known as Terrell Corp) for more than 33 years. Karen's work ethic and dedication to her job was second to none and with her winning personality she was a favorite amongst her co-workers.

In her spare time, Karen was a talented embroiderer and she enjoyed working on crafts. Karen was famous for her embroidered T-shirts that were made special for family and friends. Karen was also a wonderful baker who kept the neighborhood kids fed with her treats.

Karen will be fondly remembered for her unconditional love and support for her family and friends. She was a devoted wife, mother, Nana, daughter, cousin, and a true friend to many; she will be sorely missed by all.

Karen was the beloved wife of the late Richard H. MacMillan, devoted mother of Richard H. MacMillan, Jr. & his wife Emma of Tewksbury, James A. MacMillan & his wife Kelly of Londonderry, NH, and Lee M. MacMillan & his wife Heidi of New Boston, NH, loving "Nana" of Kyle MacMillan, Mark and Matthew MacMillan, and Russell MacMillan, cherished daughter of the late Anton and Alice Nilson, dear sister-in-law of Barbara Cotter and Linda Thivierge. Karen is also survived by many loving nieces, nephews and cousins.

Family and friends will gather for a Funeral Service at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave., (Rte. 62), Wilmington, on Saturday, September 27th at 11:00 a.m. Interment Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Visiting hours will be held at the funeral home on Friday, September 26th from 4:00 - 7:00 p.m.

Sheriff Koutoujian warning residents about arrest scams

Middlesex Sheriff Peter J. Koutoujian is again seeking to warn county residents about ongoing telephone arrest scams.

"Over the past several weeks we have received multiple reports from residents alleging callers are once again fraudulently using the name of the Middlesex Sheriff's Office in attempts to scam them out of money," said Sheriff Koutoujian. "While we - and our law enforcement colleagues - have been warning residents about these arrest scams for months, perpetrators are showing no signs of letting up in their efforts to defraud taxpayers out of their hard-earned money."

In the most recent scams reported to the Middlesex Sheriff's Office, fraudsters have either specifically identified themselves as deputies or, through a practice known as spoofing, managed to make it appear as though the call is being placed from a Middlesex Sheriff's Office telephone line. In all of the cases the victims are threatened with arrest for failure to pay fictional debts or taxes due to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

"No legitimate law enforcement agency will ever threaten arrest over the phone, nor will they demand payment for debt over the phone," said Sheriff Koutoujian.

In an effort to help educate the public about ongoing scams in Middlesex County, and beyond, Sheriff Koutoujian hosted Executive Office of Elder Affairs Secretary Ann Hartstein and Better Business Bureau Community Outreach Specialist Amy Schram for an episode of "Beyond the Badge" last month. That episode, with helpful scam prevention tips, can be found on the Middlesex Sheriff's Office YouTube Channel (<http://goo.gl/VHNpBe>).

Anyone who receives a call similar in nature to those referenced above is encouraged to contact their local police department. We also ask that you contact the Middlesex Sheriff's Office Investigations Unit at 978-657-9322 if the caller indicates they work for the Middlesex Sheriff's Office.

Tewksbury and Wilmington Students

Give Peace a Chance

BY SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent
Sharon@YourTownCrier.com

Last week, students in Tewksbury and Wilmington observed World Peace Day — also known as The International Day of Peace. Established in 1981, the United Nations General Assembly designated this time for peace within and among all nations. September 21 in particular is recognized as a day of non-violence and cease-fire. And while most students are too young to know about the atrocities that go on around us, educators hope that by teaching them about the ideals of peace, it will someday contribute to a better world.

"In our public schools we teach children to be accepting, to be inviting, to recognize differences, and given the ugliness and the evil in the world today, I think it's important we stress the fact that we need to be tolerant and willing to compromise and strive to truly understand the world around us," said Tewksbury superintendent Dr. John O'Connor.

In Tewksbury, the Ryan School held their annual Pinwheels for Peace Project. Teachers introduced the project to their 5th and 6th graders by talking about the importance of peace, understanding differences and working toward common ground when conflicts arise on a student level. "We believe that any opportunity to reflect on cultural sensitivity and kindness towards others should be explored and celebrated," said principal Judi McInnes.

Sixth grade student Chase Perault, along with his classmates, created pinwheels to be put on display in the school courtyard. Chase drew doves and peace signs on his pinwheel.

"Peace means love," he said. If he had just one wish for world peace, he said he'd wish for an end to wars, fights and violence.

"When kids see it (news about Syria) on TV, they think it's happening next door, and not a world away," said Chase's mother, Robin Perault. She shields her son from most news for this reason. "But if he comes to me and asks questions, I discuss it and show him a map. I don't want him to think someone is going to bomb his backyard," she said. "As parents we can see the world globe."

In Wilmington, the Woburn Street Elementary School observed International Peace Day by discussing peace and its symbols — peace fingers, the circle peace sign, and the dove. Art teacher Carroll Conquest read "The Dot" by Peter Reynolds, which explains that everyone is creative and can make their own mark on the world. Students in grades 1 through 3 then created art centered on the theme of peace.

Mackenzie Ware, third grade student in Ms. Sheehan's class, said the International Day of Peace is about feeling calm and being able to express yourself. When asked about her peace sign project she said, "It means feeling all the love you can and being kind."

Given everything children see around them in the world today, the International Day of Peace is an opportunity to remind students of the good things that are happening and how they can be a part of that, Jeffrey Strassnick, Woburn Street Principal, told The Crier.

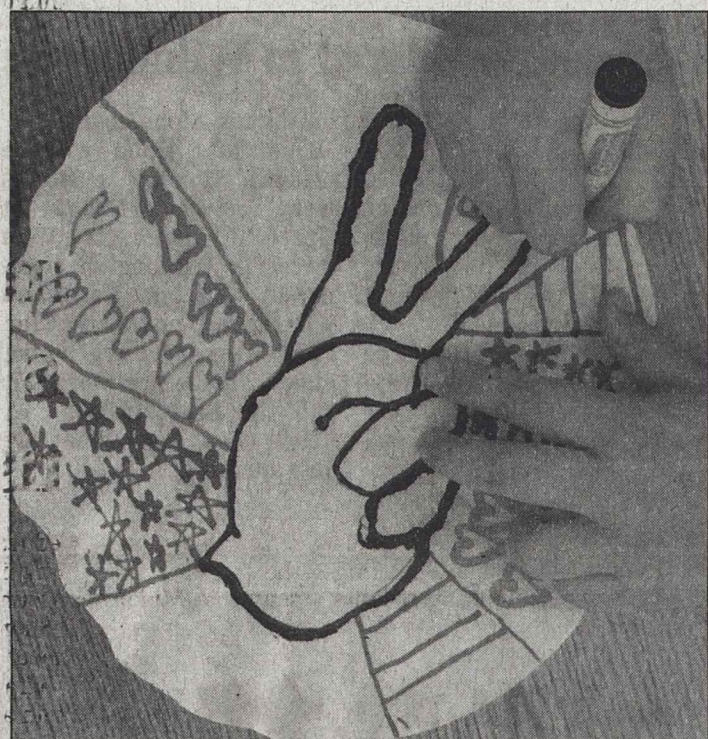

"We're always trying to show students how they can make a positive impact on their school, town, country and world so this is just another opportunity to do that. We also take time during our monthly school assemblies called 'All School Community Meetings' where we talk about what peace looks like and sounds like and what we can do to promote peace in the world around us."

The Boutwell Early Childhood Center has celebrated the International Day of Peace for four years. "It's become a nice tradition at our school," said early childhood director, Jennifer Mahon. Teachers and students created pinwheels using crayons and markers, then placed them in front of the school for display. Then the students, ages 3 through 6, made a commemorative sign on the lawn using their bodies to form the shape of a peace sign. Each class was then asked to write down their wish for a peaceful world. Teachers tied the wishes to blue and silver helium balloons and released them into the wind.

"The teachers and students really enjoyed the day," said Mahon. She asked students what peace meant to them and received answers such as "being kind", "helping neighbors", "using good manners", "sharing" and "inviting a lonely person to play."

"The hope is that we're starting (to teach peace) at such a young age that we're building a foundation for tolerance and an eagerness to work with others," Mahon said. "Maybe at some point that will make a difference."

Woburn Street School students in grades 1 - 3 made crafts last week in observance of World Peace Day. Students learned about the three symbols for peace: peace fingers, the circle peace sign and the dove and filled the background around these symbols with a variety of patterns. Courtesy photo

Fire Safety! Spread the Word!

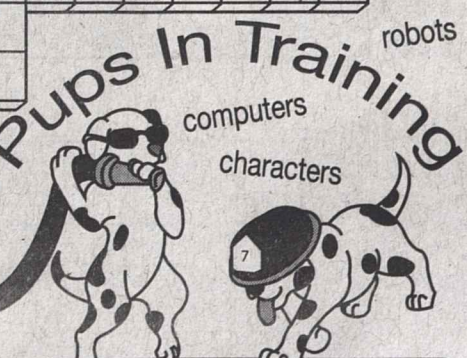

Fire Prevention Week
Oct. 5 to 11, 2014

In the days of horse-drawn fire carts, Dalmatians did the job of running in front of the horses to clear the path and to guide them to the fire! Today Dalmatians are mascots of firehouses. Sometimes we help to locate people in fires. We also make good guard dogs, watching over the firehouse and the equipment.

Firefighters rush to the rescue when there is a fire. Did you know that they also work hard to spread the word about fire prevention and safety?

Here are 6 ways that we learn about fire safety:

1. Programs are being developed on _____ that will show fake flames and fire situations to help kids learn how to react if they are ever stuck in a fire.
2. Cartoon _____ like Smokey Bear or Marty, the fire explorer, and Jett, his pet turtle (part of the USFA for kids) teach safety.
3. They are mascots at fire houses; some dogs or other _____ are trained to alert people when there is smoke, or to help find people in fires.
4. Firefighters can send _____ by remote control into dangerous fires to fight them.
5. Firehouses have _____ in which firefighters will visit classrooms to speak
6. _____ travel the country in buses; are set up at schools, malls or fairs.

Family Fire Safety Checklist

- ☐ Only cook in the kitchen when an adult is helping you.
- ☐ Don't touch matches, lighters or candles. They are for adult use only.
- ☐ Do you have smoke detectors on every level of your home? Test them monthly and change the batteries at least once a year.
- ☐ Do you know two or more ways out of the house?
- ☐ Never use elevators if there is a fire (stairs are much safer).
- ☐ Smoke rises. If there is a fire, stay low: crawl under the smoke.
- ☐ Have you picked a place to meet the rest of your family once you are all out of the house?
- ☐ Once you are out of the house, stay out of the house.

Grace Chapel's Alpha course offered in Wilmington

For over 25 years, the Grace Chapel's Alpha course has been helping thousands of people worldwide answer questions about life and faith in a relaxed, judgment-free environment.

Alpha provides a great place for you and others to explore the meaning of life. Alpha is for anyone who thinks there may be more to life than meets the eye.

People attend from all backgrounds, religions, and viewpoints to investigate questions about the existence of God, the purpose of life, the afterlife, the claims of Jesus, and more. Everyone is welcome, whether or not you have a church background.

The Alpha course is free and begins each week with a complimentary meal followed by a video presentation and a round table discussion. Many long-lasting friendships have been built during the Alpha course.

This fall, Alpha will be offered Monday evenings from Sep 29 to Nov 24 at Grace Chapel, 128 West Street in Wilmington starting at 6:45 pm. For more information or to register, visit www.grace.org/alpha, email alpha@grace.org, or call (781) 862-8351x 143.

How about you? What are your questions?

Election 2014

Girouard Wins Taxpayers' Endorsement Challenges Ken Gordon for 21st Middlesex District

BURLINGTON - WILMINGTON - Paul Girouard, state representative candidate for the 21st Middlesex District, received the endorsement of Citizens for Limited Taxation's 2 1/2 Political Action Committee, CLT's 2 1/2 PAC, the political arm of Citizens for Limited Taxation, was originally created to support candidates who would defend Proposition 2 1/2 in the State Legislature. It now endorses candidates who support taxpayers on a variety of issues and uses the CLT legislative drafting to identify pro-taxpayer legislators.

Francis J. Faulkner, executive director of the PAC, said in a press statement this week that the group endorsed Girouard based on his strong support for tax limitation.

"We need to put people like Paul Girouard in the State Legislature to continue the fight for the income tax roll-back and to block any attempt to impose new taxes. He brings a refreshing commonsense approach to fiscal issues that I'm sure the taxpayers of his district will appreciate. Paul has also taken the taxpayer protection pledge. This pledge asks candidates to 'oppose and vote against any and all efforts to increase taxes.' A candidate who signs the pledge is sending a message to legislative leaders that he is serious about not raising taxes and will focus instead on better management of state revenues."

Girouard says his opponent, Representative Ken Gordon, has voted against the taxpayers on twenty-five key taxpayer votes in the 2013-14 session. For this reason Rep. Gordon most recently received a zero rating from CLT.

"I appreciate the endorsement as an admirer of all of the great work CLT has done over the years to save taxpayers in Massachusetts thousands of dollars in property and automobile excise taxes," said Girouard.

Fudge Properties welcomes Jacky Forgan

WILMINGTON
Originally from Adelaide, South Australia, Jacky moved with her husband and five children to Chelmsford in 2011 and has been very involved in the community ever since.

Jacky is a keen runner and enjoys taking part in local races. When not running, you can find Jacky at one of the many sporting matches or practices around Chelmsford for one or more of her children, whether it be soccer, field hockey, softball, basketball or horse riding.

When relocating to Massachusetts, Jacky decided Chelmsford was a wonderful place to settle, with an excellent environment for raising her children, due in part to the school system and town sporting programs.

Living in Chelmsford has given Jacky the opportunity to appreciate the culture, the people, the seasons and the activities offered in the area.

Jacky is a goal setter, loves a new challenge and meeting new people and has a strong desire to help others meet their goal of finding the right place to settle. As a full time agent with Fudge Properties, Jacky has joined the MLS Property Information Network, which is the largest Multiple Listing Service in New England and covers approximately 90% of the State of Massachusetts, as well as areas of Connecticut, New Hampshire, and Rhode Island. With the resources of Fudge Properties and MLS Property Information Network at her disposal, Jacky can assist you in making your property ownership goals a reality. If you're looking for service that's second to none, why not let Jacky Forgan help you with all your real estate needs!

Yore graduates from NDA

After a very long winter, a bright, sunny sky set the theme for the 116th Commencement at the Academy of Notre Dame. Faculty, staff, fellow students, family, friends and alumni gathered to bid adieu to a remarkable group of young women.

They are bright young women. Principal Helen Kay noted, "This graduating class as the highest percentage of National Honor Society Members in years."

Anyone who attended the Baccalaureate Awards ceremony would concur that the list of accomplishments for the class of 2014 is indeed extensive.

The lists of clubs, community service activities and sports that these young women have participated in are too numerous to mention, and spoke to how well organized they must be to juggle a rigorous course load with so many extra-curricular activities.

Salutatorian, Rebekah Paxton of Groton and Valedictorian, Mary Kate McCarthy of Tyngsboro are both recipients of the prestigious Cardinal Medeiros scholarship. Both graduates spoke of excellent, caring teachers, spiritual growth, and the bond of a sisterhood that has been formed over the past four years together. Their poise and articulate delivery rivaled that of seasoned, professional public speakers.

Also graduating was Rachel Yore of Tewksbury.

Acting President Dr. Albert Shanrion revealed to attendees that this class earned more than $7.7 million dollars in scholarships, with 52 of 53 graduates going on to college, and one graduate enlisting in the U.S. Air Force.

The Academy of Notre Dame is a private, Catholic college-preparatory high school for young women and a co-educational Pre-K-through grade 8 elementary and middle school sponsored by the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur and based upon the philosophy of their foundress, St. Julie Billiart.

Two schools rise to Level 1 for a Level 1 classification in 2014.

The remaining schools in the Wilmington school district — Shawsheen Elementary, North Intermediate Elementary, West Intermediate Elementary, and Wilmington Middle School were classified Level 2 again this year.

The district's progress toward narrowing proficiency gaps is 54 percent, down 3 percent from last year. To be on target, cumulative progress and performance must be 75 percent or higher.

Neighboring districts also receiving a Level 2 rank this year include Tewksbury, Andover, Chelmsford, Burlington, and Woburn. Reading dropped to Level 3 this year. Billerica and Lowell remained at Level 3 and Lawrence remained at Level 5.

This is Shawsheen Valley Technical High School's third year with a Level 1 classification.

Statewide, "90 percent of 10th graders scored proficient or higher in English language arts, 79 percent in mathematics, and 71 percent in science and technology/engineering (STE)," according to the DESE.

"Teachers and students across the Commonwealth have much to be proud of with this year's MCAS results," said Governor Patrick. "This improvement is the direct result of collaborative work between our schools and our students, but as achievement gaps still persist, we must continue to invest in education so that each student has the chance to succeed."

MCAS testing is used by the Commonwealth to measure school, district and student accountability and identify areas requiring improvement in teaching and learning.

Public school students in grades 3-8 and grade 10 are tested in various subjects, depending on grade level: English language arts, mathematics, science and technology/engineering. The summation of results is then labeled by one of five levels of progress and performance, with Level 1 defined as "meeting gap-narrowing goals" and Level 5 defined as "chronically underperforming."

For more information on MCAS visit http://profiles.doe.mass.edu/state_report/mcas.aspx

Fiorenza came home to a successful career

Star, the nation's third-highest military honor.

"You don't actually go out to win a Silver Star," he said, "It's just something that happens."

"It's the position you're in, and you're going to do your duty or you're going to die."

Later in the war, the company came under rocket attack and he was wounded by shrapnel, but was saved by his rifle, which was nearly cut in two.

Al was born in Medford, and in 1946, the family moved to a farmhouse on Andover Street in North Wilmington. There were 14 children in the family. Al left high school in his sophomore year to join the Army. He became a Browning Automatic Rifle Specialist.

In 1949, the Chinese Communists overthrew their government, and moved into the Korean peninsula. It was the start of a long, bloody conflict. Fiorenza spent a year and a half there. Though the fighting ended in 1953, there has never been a treaty to end the war.

Nonetheless, Fiorenza maintained that the U.S. had won the war. He visited South Korea in 1983, and was very much impressed with the development that had occurred in 30 years.

His business career is a story of personal success, built through his own drive and acumen.

He returned home to a town that was bustling with development, with massive construction projects. Industries were building large plants. Interstate Route 93 was under construction. And then there were the subdivisions. In all, there were thousands of construction workers in the area. And Al was there, selling them lunches and coffee.

He started small and built one business after another. He first opened a submarine sandwich shop in Winchester, which he then sold. He bought a small truck and began selling coffee and lunches at various construction sites in the area. He then sold that route and started another, and another. Before long, he opened a dispensary on West Street to supply the coffee trucks, Kustom Koffee Kart Catering. He sold the trucks under the name Alco Leasing and Sales.

Before long, there were dozens of coffee trucks, all buying supplies from Al. They would pull into a work site and blow the horn, maybe with an electronic tune, and then open the sides of the truck. There was coffee in the back, sandwiches and cold drinks on the side and the driver standing by, with a coin changer on his belt.

With a kitchen in place, Al then opened a function hall, Casa di Fior, which he later enlarged. That facility grew considerably. It hosted thousands of weddings, community gatherings, town functions and other social events. After the 2008 recession, it was sold in 2010 to the Grace Chapel. It is now a church.

Fiorenza also owned Three Cheers Restaurant in Boston. The producers of the television show "Cheers" sued him, claiming he had appropriated the name. The show was set at the Bull and Finch bar in Boston. But Al was able to prove that he had been in business before the show used the name.

He also engaged in real estate development, building a subdivision on the old family farm off Andover Street. During the construction, he might be found running a bulldozer on site, his Mercedes parked nearby.

Arena board's silence raises questions

Kenneth DelRossi, President of IIFYF asking for meeting minutes, vote records, and the Conflict of Interest policy. On August 25 he received a response. Natalie Hoppel, an attorney representing IIFYF, told Hull that she was looking for legal citations that would compel the request. Manager Hull told the Board he was still waiting for written response from IIFYF.

Notably, tax filings from the organization state that the Conflict of Interest policy is 'available upon request' to the public, but requests from the Town Crier and the Board of Selectmen about the policy have not elicited any response.

The Town Crier also reached out to Hoppel, who declined to comment pending consultation with her clients. She has not responded to subsequent requests for comments or documentation pertaining to the Board of Selectmen request. Said Chairwoman Judith O'Connell, "I'm losing a little bit of patience. We've asked nicely."

When she turned to the Board, Selectman Michael McCoy, answered, "We really need information."

"I get the feeling that they're 'lawyering up.' They don't want to interact or deal directly with the town," said Selectman Mike Champoux. "What are our legal rights? 'Cause it seems like the nice way ain't workin.'"

"We invited this group in.

Anyone who has asked me for anything, has gotten a response," said Selectman Mike Newhouse. "They gotta be hiding something."

Newhouse made an appeal to an IIFYF board member, saying, "I don't know Mr. DelRossi personally. I do know Dennis Sullivan. He's a great guy. In 1986 he was a member of the Board of Directors. Members of the Board of Directors are entitled to public records. Mr. Sullivan, if you're out there listening..."

He went on to say "I know Mr. Sullivan, and I know he's a nice guy, and I know he cares about the town. We're not trying to embarrass anybody. Let this public request stand on its' own."

Pop Warner has the perfect 'Two of a Kind'

After three decades of coaching, Sully leaving after this season

WILMINGTON- Gerry Sullivan is used to winning. The head coach of the Wilmington Pop Warner A team, Sullivan and the core of his team have been together for many seasons and have gradually built a reputation for as an indomitable force on the football field.

The Wildcats' latest victory came in a 22-0 rout of Lowell, bringing their season record to 3-0. Of the team's 25 regular season games, they have won 24.

"These kids play hard," Sullivan said. "They are used to being undefeated by this point."

When you factor in playoff games, the numbers look even more impressive. After 32 games together, the Wildcats have an overall record of 32-2 over four seasons, racking up three visits to the Eastern Mass Championship game, with two victories.

"The kids deserve the accolades," Sullivan said. "I'm not the one on the field, I'm not the one making the plays, they are. It's all their wins, not mine."

But it is hard to argue that Sullivan is not integral to the ongoing success of the team. Sullivan, a native to Wilmington and alumni of the High School, went on to play at UMass Lowell before returning to Wilmington to coach at the High School. He also spent several seasons coaching football at Merrimack College and Endicott College.

Sullivan has proven to be a major resource of knowledge and support for every player on his team, a duty he takes very seriously.

"You come willing to learn, I'll come willing to teach," he explained. "Eventually, they will get it. I try to evaluate as much as I can what he can do, and then I put him in that role. The more you build a player's confidence, the more they're going to be able to do."

"It's his knowledge of the game," said league president Deb Smith. "He's an all-business kind of approach. He expects respect and runs a very organized practice so that everyone knows what they need to do. The kids are very lucky to have someone

Maguire balancing tough act of coaching high school and youth football teams

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

BrendanMFoley@Outlook.com

Almost every weekday evening this past month, Shawn Maguire has been supporting Wilmington Football, while for the past 22 years he has also been supporting Burlington Football. Come this Friday night, the two towns will clash, and he knows which sideline he'll be on.

"My neighbors are razzing me," he said with a big laugh. "I kind of need to keep my head down when I'm down here (at the Glen Road Fields) this week. I love Wilmington, but on Friday I won't love Wilmington for two hours. After that, I can go back to loving Wilmington."

Maguire, the head coach of the Burlington High School Varsity Football team, will be taking on the Wilmington High Wildcats this Friday night at BHS. Until kick-off of that Middlesex League Freedom Division game, he has big ties to the Wilmington community as both a resident, as well as the head coach of the Pop Warner E Team.

Maguire spends hours at practice with the members of the Red Devils team coaching teenagers for their grueling high school games, then hurries onto Rte. 62 and heads to the Glen Road to teach the fundamentals to 8- and 9-year-olds, including his son Shane.

For as long as he can remember Chris DiCecca has been a soccer player. Whether it was with Wilmington Youth Soccer, or Wilmington High School, or in his current role as a senior midfielder for the Colby-Sawyer Soccer team, he has always been contributing to one team or another.

But sooner than he would like to think, his competitive soccer career will be coming to an end, as his in the midst of the final season of his collegiate career.

The senior from Wilmington knows the end is near, but he is making the most out of his last chance, as he is off to the best start of his college career, having already equaled his career high in goals scored in a season with three tallies in Colby-Sawyer's first seven games.

"It is definitely scary to think that after all these years of playing competitive soccer that it will come to an end soon," DiCecca said. "I want to enjoy every minute of it and have a great senior season."

DiCecca has certainly been doing just that thus far for the Chargers, both on and off the field, as he has emerged as a leader to the younger members of the team during his senior season.

"He is one of the first players on the field and one of the last off the field and that is something the younger kids respect," Colby-Sawyer coach Craig Wilkinson said. "It is his attitude that is his greatest asset as a leader. He puts in the work every day, and the younger kids see that and follow suit. He puts everything in every time he is on the field."

DiCecca has embraced his role as a mentor to the many young players on the team, as the Chargers have welcomed 16 freshmen into the fold this season.

"I have always been like that, but it's true that I do want to show the younger kids how I do things," DiCecca. "I want to be a good role model for them if I can be."

While DiCecca is certainly a good role model off the field, he has been a great leader on the field as well, as his three goals are tied for most on the team and his six points on the season are the second most on the team.

Wildcats run all over the Cougars

MEDFORD - It has been said that you can measure the toughness of a football team by their ability win the battles in the trenches and to run the football effectively.

If that is true, then last Friday night the Wilmington High Football team had to be the toughest team you would ever want to face, as they piled up 417 yards rushing in a convincing 27-7 win over non-league rival Arlington Catholic at Hormel Stadium in Medford.

Minus the services of number one running back Matthew Penney who was out injured, the Wildcats did not miss a beat, as they were led by the backfield tandem of sophomore Sam Jennings (21 carries, 197 yards, 2 TD's), and senior Jomikeson Beray (18 carries, 172 yards, 1 TD), while senior quarterback Mike Carraccino also added a rushing touchdown.

At times on Friday it looked like things were not going to go the Wildcats way, as despite completely dominating play in the first half they held just a 14-7 lead as they went to the intermission after AC scored on a 30-yard touchdown pass on the final play of the half.

How dominant were the Wildcats in the first half? For starters they out rushed the Cougars by a margin of 191-1 in the half and out-gained them 191-82 overall, picking up nine first downs to AC's two.

But only one score separated the two teams, as the Wildcats several times were their own worst enemy, making critical mistakes or penalties to halt drives, and then they watched as AC picked up 73 of their 82 first

Tewksbury falls to Everett, 20-19

No trophy for the Redmen on this night

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

EVERETT - Today's sports world is completely different than what it was five or ten years ago.

Today, everyone gets a trophy, and if everyone isn't guaranteed a trophy, then the entire world falls on the shoulders of those who don't give them out.

Today, coaches ask reporters to do feature stories on three or four or five athletes, instead of the one who is having the best season or the one who has the best story to tell.

Today, every team and every player on the team must "get along" so team chemistry is the reason why teams win and not because of pure talent.

Today, little league all-star teams have to make sure everyone plays, because being named one of the 15 best in the entire league is not good enough.

Nothing is good enough these days unless a kid comes home from a sporting event with a trophy, an ice cream, a playdate with the four players from the other team, and of course a smile on his or her face because after all we are told today that sports is not what life is all about.

As you can tell by my tone, I don't believe in today's thinking. I'm old-school and I firmly believe that competition in sports truly does teach you so many life-lessons which can never be taught by a planned playdate with the Johnny from 18 Pine Drive.

I don't believe that everyone gets a trophy - I believe the ones who deserve them should get them. Just like I believe the best person for the job should get the job, the best singer should get the lead in the school play, and the best teacher - the one who makes a difference and not the most popular - should be voted as the "Teacher of the Year".

All that being said, Tewksbury Memorial High School Football Coach Brian Aylward was asked by another reporter on Friday night if he felt good after his team lost to Everett by a point. He was basically asked if every kid on his team is coming home with a trophy. He didn't agree they should.

"No, we just lost, I don't feel good," he answered. "We lost to another high school football team. They are good, they have been good for a number of years. The only way you would feel good about (the loss) is if you executed to the best of your ability level and we just didn't get it. That's the frustrating part with the little mistakes we made. I thought our kids gave themselves the opportunity to win but we just didn't do enough."

Brian Aylward is as competitive as they come. He's extremely truthful in his post-game comments and he doesn't sugarcoat things. He knows his team played hard and gave it their best but he wouldn't accept anything different. He coaches football so he knows someone has to win and someone has to lose and on this night, his Redmen team lost. So instead of saying "yes I feel good and the kids do too because we lost to Everett by a point," he said "No, I don't feel good. We just lost."

And to be honest, who does feels good after a loss? No one, well unless you get a trophy, an ice cream and some new friends. If you feel good after a loss, perhaps you do deserve the trophy, ice cream and playdate.

Heck, I don't feel good after losing a "Words With Friends" game, nevermind a physical encounter against 250-pound linemen for 44 minutes. Losing isn't fun but it also teaches you so many things that an ice cream and fake trophy can't teach you.

Tewksbury outplayed Everett but came up short. It was a sensational game to watch and to report on. A game like that is what makes my job so enjoyable. It what makes a Friday night driving an hour from my home worthwhile. Games like that are few and far between. But not every team is going to win every game. Sometimes upsets happen and teams knock off the Giant and in the same season fall to the winless team. It's what makes sports so great. You never know what to expect.

Truthfully I had no idea what to expect before kick-off on Friday night. I thought and hoped Tewksbury could hang with the Big Boys from Everett but I didn't really know what I would see. They did hang with them, they did put up one heck of a fight and it was great to see.

But what will be even better to see is how Tewksbury responds from this tough stomach turning loss - to see if they correct their mistakes, improve as individuals and as a team, and defeats the next tough team who awaits. In this case it'll be North Andover, who would like nothing more than to knock off the returning state champions, who are coming off a 1-point loss to a program that has won the Super Bowl 20 times.

The answer to that awaits Saturday and every weekend that follows from here until the end of the season. It goes the same for the Patriots after a loss to the Dolphins, the same for the Volleyball team after a loss to Chelmsford, the same for the 12-year-old soccer team who were defeated in a tough Saturday morning contest, and it certainly goes to same for me after a week of making some horrible mistakes in this sports section. It happens. You don't win everyday.

How you respond to adversity goes a long way in life, whether it's in sports, in the classroom, at home or when you are just having an off-day. It's what makes us who we are. It's a cliché we have heard for years and decades but it's so true, and even more so in today's world.

Getting undeserved trophies after having an off-day makes us something we are not. It makes us superficial and in the sports world, it makes it all futile.

Patrick Gill died in car accident

Winchester mourns the loss of football captain

By Daily Times
Chronicle Staff

Winchester residents are mourning the death of a 17-year-old student-athlete who was the captain of the town's high school football team.

Hundreds of people gathered Saturday evening at St. Mary's Church in the heart of Winchester center to remember Patrick Gill, who was killed in a single-car accident Saturday morning.

Superintendent Bill McAlduff -- formerly of Wilmington -- said Gill's death is a devastating loss to the entire community. Grief counseling was being offered at the high school beginning Sunday.

Friends and high school staff say Gill was a talented athlete known for his high energy, laugh and smile.

Police are still investigating the cause of the accident. Authorities say Gill was driving on Manomet Road near High Street (and the Winchester Country Club) when his car went off the road and crashed into a tree.

His football coach, Wally Dembowski, told the Boston Globe that Gill "touched just about every life in town. Even when you wanted to get mad at him, you couldn't, because he'd smile and go, 'OK, let's get it right.'"

In a statement McAlduff said, "There are no words to express how sorry I am. This is a great loss to the Gill family and the entire Winchester community."

On Friday, Gill played what ended up being his final game for the Sachems, recording six catches for 44 yards against Melrose. Saturday, Gill's teammates, who on Friday stood beside him on the football field, now mourned the loss of their friend and teammate.

"Tenzin Dhakpa, a junior, told the Globe, "I started playing football sophomore year, and I didn't really know what I was getting myself into. First day of practice, Pat took me aside and explained what the coach was saying . . . throughout the season, he just gave me a lot of patience; he just really helped me."

Dhakpa said that Gill was a "leader to the entire team," even when they lost and weren't playing well.

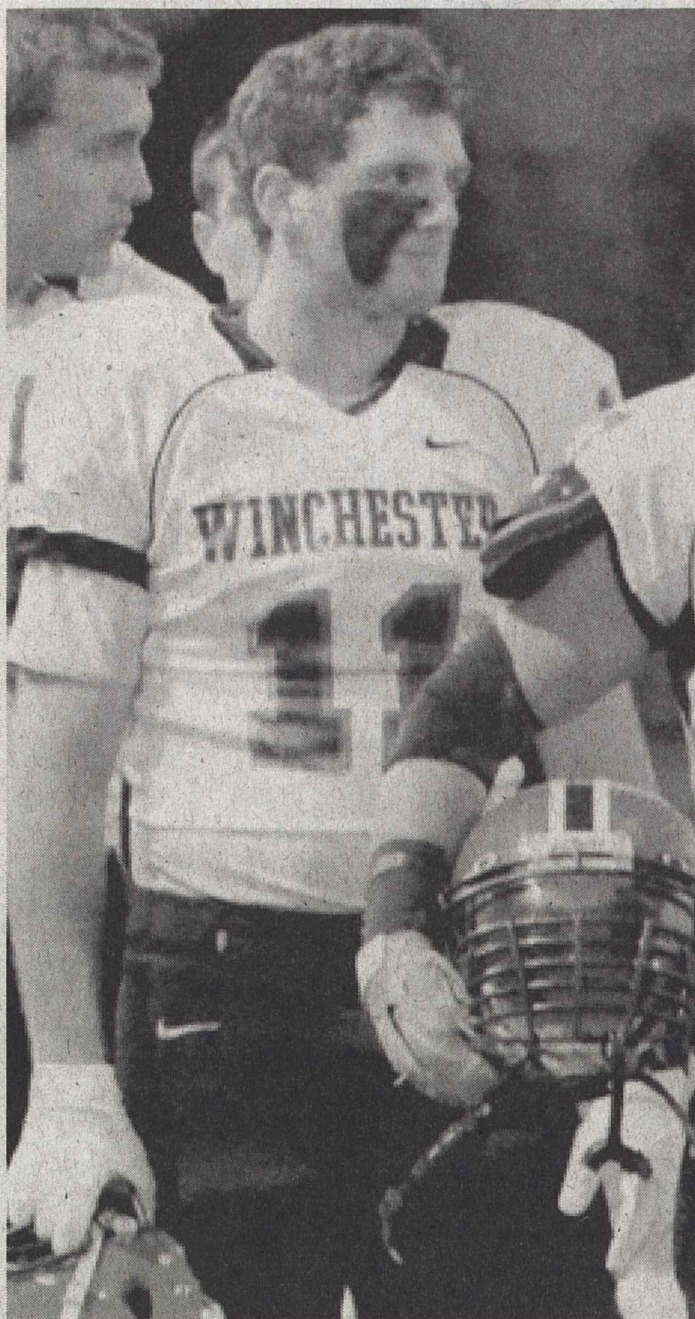

Another teammate, Patrick Costello, told the Globe that Gill helped him improve his stance as a wide receiver and helped him as a defensive back, as well.

Last year, Gill had 55 receptions to lead the team.

In week one, he scored the game winning touchdown in the team's win over Wilmington, and also had six catches for 81 yards.

"The entire Wilmington Football program is stunned and saddened by the loss of Patrick Gill," said Wilmington High head coach Mike Barry. "On Saturday I had the opportunity to talk with Coach Dembowski who spoke very highly of Patrick as person and what he meant to his team and community. From my conversation with Coach Dembowski we know Winchester has lost an exceptional young man and his passing will be felt for a long time."

"The players on our team who competed against Patrick said he was class act who played the game the right way. Our sincerest condolences go out to his family, teammates, and friends at this difficult time."

Patrick Gill was one of the captains on this year's Winchester Varsity Football team, including scoring the game winning touchdown against Wilmington nearly two weeks ago. He also caught a TD pass in the team's loss to Melrose on Friday night, but he tragically passed away Saturday morning in an automobile accident.

Other friends of Gill's spoke out, as well. Owen Ulicny, a longtime friend, said that Gill helped him as a lacrosse player. It was reportedly Gill's dream to play college lacrosse.

Ulicny referred to Gill as a talented athlete and an all-around good person. "I'm still just shocked that this happened," he said.

Although the incident is still under investigation by police, authorities confirmed that Gill was traveling alone when his car left the road and struck a tree. Later that day, friends and mourners arrived to the crash site to lay flowers and pay their respects.

Gill leaves behind a twin sister, and a younger brother who coach Dembowski said was the team's water boy.

Jamie Pote and the Associated Press also contributed to this report.

Girls Soccer team defeats Tewksbury

Wildcats continue to toss up doughnuts

TEWKSBURY - It was a one-sided affair and it's been a one-sided season for both soccer teams thus far. The returning Division 2 state finalists from Wilmington took the game easily over the very young and inexperienced Tewksbury Redmen by a score of 4-0.

For the Lady Wildcats, they improved to 5-0-1 with Saturday morning's win which includes four straight shutouts and outscoring its opponents by a 14-2 margin thus far. For Tewksbury, they fall to 1-6 on the season and have been outscored 26-5 thus far.

Wilmington led 1-0 at halftime and frankly could have and should have been up by at least three or four goals but couldn't finish many opportunities, before they broke it open with three goals in the second half.

All in all, four different goal scorers found the back of the net making it seven on the season for the 'Cats. But the story of the game was Wilmington's tough defense, which allowed six shots on net but no real solid scoring opportunities.

The Wildcats have now gone 320-plus minutes without allowing a goal.

"Shutouts can be deceiving," said Wildcat head coach Sue Hendee. "You can have a keeper who has a remarkable day and makes 15 to 20 saves but ours have been legitimate shutouts where (opposing teams) haven't had too many shots or opportunities to score. It's great and our defense has done a real nice job so far.

"And (goalie) Kellie (Souza) is making some nice saves back there too." Wilmington's defense has been anchored the last few years by the likes of Devyn Malatesta and Christina Spinos, but other players have stepped up as well including Julianna Iocco and Jamie Spinazola.

"I'm very pleased where we are already," said Hendee. "I said at the beginning of the season that I knew that there was a lot of potential talent but it was just a matter of when we would all come together. The girls are really starting to come together as a team. They are playing together and playing well."

Wilmington squandered all kinds of chances to score in the first half, missing the net on a number of odd break-ins and breakaways.

Sophomore Nadia Barletta scored the lone goal in the first half coming at the eighth minute mark. She took a loose ball and was able to split the defense and send a shot to the far left side for what turned out to be the game winning goal.

After the halftime break, Wilmington made it 2-0 fast, scoring just five minutes into the second half as Jordyn Granara made a nice chip shot from the right side to the middle of the field where sophomore Cecilia Chase buried the ball into the left hand corner for her fifth goal of the young season.

"Cecilia is doing a nice job," said Hendee. "That kind of nose to the goal mentality that she has is really is something you don't teach. It's there and she really knows where to be and positions herself really well (in front of the net)."

Chase is second on the team in points with six behind Casey McFall, who has seven with two goals and five assists. She picked up a real nice helper on Saturday with a nice one-touch pass to Kaila Bavin, who scored the third goal of the game. Isabella Granara scored the fourth goal on an assist from Heather Niemiec.

"Casey had a really nice assist," said Hendee. "We have been scoring in a variety of different situations and in a variety of different ways and that's good to see too that it's not just breakaways and it's been different ways."

Tewksbury really didn't test Souza with any difficult scoring chances. The Redmen played without two of their starters in defensive backs Hilary Fletcher and Madison Westcott, forcing first-year head coach Mike Dobbs to make some line-up changes.

"We need to make those not personnel adjustments but personal commitments to being aggressive," he said. "If we can do that, then we'll start to see results. Until we do that, it's going to be more of the same. I don't want to be glib or drab, but as soon as we turn up the aggressive meter, we'll start to see results. I'm happy with how we move the ball when we decide to move the ball."

"We're still learning that new system and I've made some minor tweaks to the way we play it. If we played this game two weeks ago it may have been 10 or 11-0. We have gotten consistently better but the problem is everyone else has gotten consistently better."

Earlier in the week Tewksbury was defeated by Andover 3-0, and will have a few days off before getting back in action on Thursday facing Dracut at home.

Wilmington knocked off Melrose 3-0 last week behind Chase and McFall who had a goal and an assist each, while Bavin scored the other goal on an assist from Jordyn Granara.

Then on Monday the team improved to 5-0-2 with another 4-0 win, this time over Wakefield making it five straight shutouts and 400-plus minutes without giving up a goal. Jordyn Granara led the way scoring two goals giving her 5 goals and 3 assists this season.

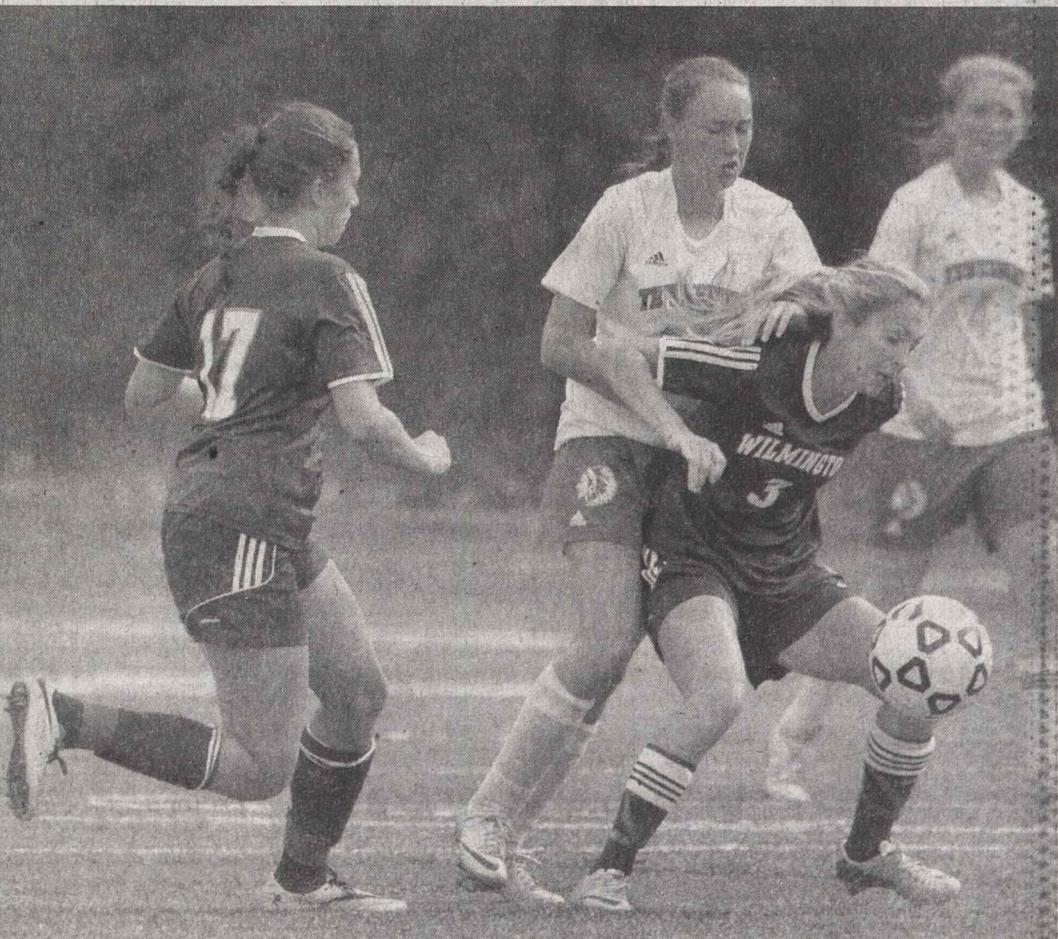

Chase and McCauley added single goals giving Chase her sixth goal of the season, while McFall, Spinos and Stephanie Figueiredo had single assists. Souza made two saves for the shut out, while defender Liz Gordon and midfielder Amber Peach both played well.

The Wildcats will host Stoneham on Monday before going to Belmont on Wednesday.

WHS Boys Soccer teams wins two

Defensive play making the difference on the fields

After starting out of the gate playing inconsistent soccer, the Wilmington High Boys team came back strong this week with two wins over Middlesex League Freedom Division foes, knocking off both Melrose and Wakefield by 1-0 scores.

"To get two divisional wins is huge and we got another big game (on Wednesday) against Watertown," said coach Steve Scanlon. "I think if we continue to play good defensively, we'll be in every game but we need to find a scorer. We need to find someone who can finish."

The week started with a 1-0 win over a much improved Melrose squad on Thursday, which came two days after the 'Cats let one slip away in a loss to Burlington. The game with Melrose was scoreless until the 30th minute when Ryan Kinsella scored an unassisted goal. He came across the '18 yard box and put a shot on net which was deflected off a Melrose defender's leg and into the opposite side of the net from what turned out to be the game winner.

"I thought defensively we were real solid," said Scanlon. "Evan (Raffi), Pat (McFall), Brian Cavanaugh, Matt Spurr and Quinton (Foley) have all been playing pretty good. I think lately those guys have really settled down and played really well and I think if they continue to play like this, we'll be in every game."

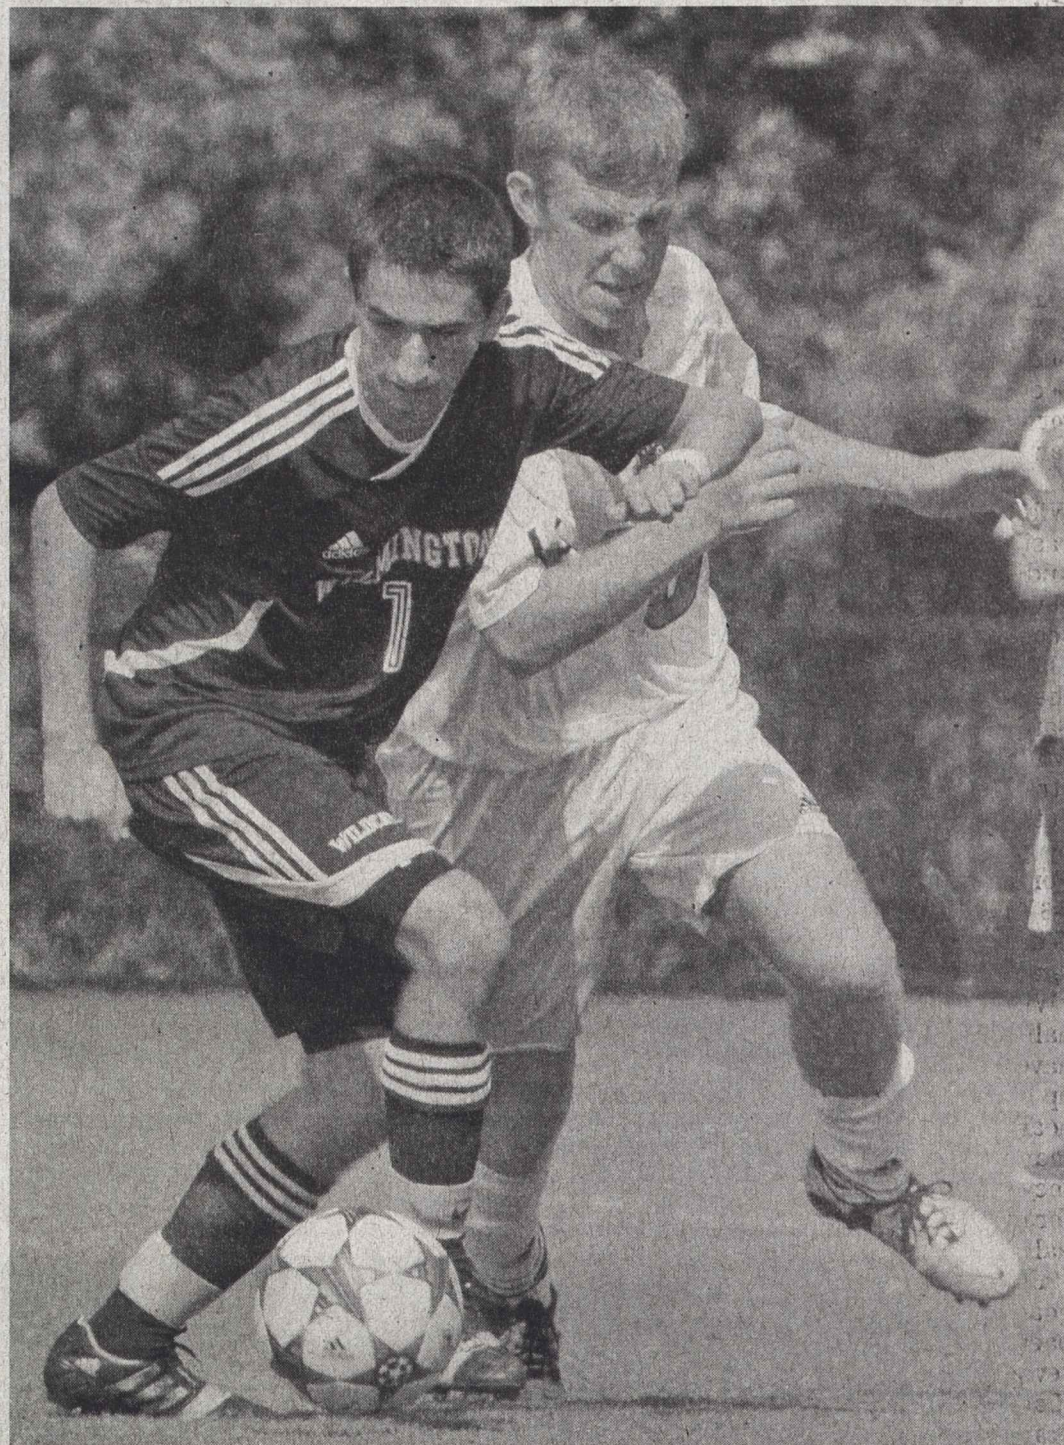

On Monday, the Wildcats

took on another much-improved team with Wakefield. Scanlon said they are big and have lots of skill and are a tough match-up. In this game, the wind was a big factor.

"We won the coin toss so we went into the wind in the first half," said Scanlon. "Wakefield carried play in the first action with the win back to them and I thought defensively we bent a little bit but didn't break."

The game was scoreless through the first half and Scanlon said he had one constant message to his team for second half play, "shoot from anywhere". That motto stuck as Matt Spurr played a ball back to Kevin Goncalves who but a great shot to the

WHS Round-Up: Cross-Country teams fall to 0-3

Inconsistent play hurting Wildcat Field Hockey team

By JAMIE POTE

jamiepote@hotmail.com
Several weeks ago, the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team's backs were against the wall when the team started out 0-2, losing to two terrific teams in Reading and North Andover.

Since then the Wildcats have gone 3-0-2 which would be terrific news in most cases, but this past week it seemed like Wilmington threw a few possible points in the trash bucket, ending in two ties against teams they were clearly better than.

"I'm slightly disappointed with today's game," said head coach Leanne Ebert after Tuesday's 1-1 tie with Wakefield. "We had a talk about it after the game. The one thing we need to learn is we have to be ready for every single game and we need to learn that we need to play for sixty minutes and not forty. Mentally we have been beating ourselves."

Wilmington totally dominated Wakefield, but most of that came after playing a subpar first half. In the first 30 minutes the 'Cats put just five shots on net but in the second half they mustered 13, all the while having 10 corners. Wakefield had just three shots on net and one corner all game, and came away with the 1-1 tie.

"We're not finishing the (offensive) play," said Ebert. "We're not capitalizing on our opportunities. We practice corners all of the time, all of the time and in game situations we're making the first connection, the first step but not making the second step. This (Wilmington) team is skilled and has the ability, but we need to polish and fine-tune some things."

Wilmington scored in the first minute of Tuesday's game as Melissa McNamara scored her second goal of the season. The score

Volleyball team on bad streak

They entered the game with a three-game losing streak including falling in their last nine sets. They left the court on Friday afternoon with a four-game losing streak as well as losing 12 straight sets.

The Wilmington High

School Volleyball team has not been playing pretty volleyball as of late, and head coach Meghan Sheehy said it's now or never for this team.

"Too many errors, too many free balls to the middle of the court and we just didn't have anything," she said after the 3-0 home loss to Middlesex League rival

Burlington. "We didn't have serves, we didn't have passes and we only got power when we knew we were about to lose in the last five points of a match. It is what it is so either we figure it out, or it's going to be a long season."

"We have practice tomorrow."

Shawsheen Tech Round-Up

Boys Soccer team blanks Chelsea

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

SPORTS@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA – With every game and every practice the Shawsheen Tech Boys Soccer team continues to improve, as they get more and more used to playing with each other and playing under the direction of new coach Tom Severo.

With the way the Rams are already playing at this point, it may be frightening for the opposition to think of how good they can be once they are at their best. The Rams took another step in that direction this week, winning two of their three matches, with their only loss coming in a hard fought 2-0 decision to CAC powerhouse Chelsea on Tuesday.

Prior to their loss to Chelsea, the Rams had picked up victories over Lynn Tech last Wednesday by a score of 3-0 and North Shore-Essex last Friday by a score of 1-0, with all of their matches this week being played at home.

The 3-0 win over Lynn Tech was particularly impressive, given what a challenge the Tigers usually are for the Rams on a yearly basis.

"We played very well in that game," Severo said. "We are starting to hit our stride and play with much more confidence and more cohesion as a team. They are getting used to the style of play I want and they are doing a good job of playing together."

Senior goalie Brett Battaglia of Tewksbury earned the shutout in the victory, his second in his three starts, while the Rams were led on offense by a pair of goals from junior Jake Lage, including one on a penalty kick, and a goal from junior Scott Callahan of Tewksbury.

Lage has emerged a serious scoring threat for the Rams in recent games.

"He's got a good shot, a good hard, accurate shot and when he puts it on net he has a good chance to score," Severo said. We are trying not to depend on just one goal scorer. We have a number of players who can also score, but he is playing very well for us."

Picking up assists in the victory were Tewksbury residents Christian Lucchesi and Adam Colon, along with Gabe Colletti, Nick Blanchard and Wilmington's Shawn Marshall.

In the 1-0 win over Essex Tech, the Rams were led by a surprise starter in goal, as freshman Matt Irwin made nine saves in an emergency role. Battaglia suffered a pulled muscle during warmups just before the start of the game, forcing Irwin into action.

"Matt did a nice job for us," Severo said. "We dominated the game, but whenever they did have a chance, Matt was there to stop them."

The Rams did indeed dominate, taking a 1-0 lead on a goal by Lucchesi, with assists going to Marshall and Nick O'Connell about midway through the first half and controlling play the rest of the way, but they were unable to add to their lead.

"We had a lot of shots, and the ones we put on net were very good shots," Severo said. "But their goalie played very well. It was a combination of a very good goalie and a little bit of our ineptitude at finding the open spots."

The Rams also played well in their 2-0 loss to Chelsea, as they stood toe to toe with the perennial CAC powerhouse.

"They are a very good team. They scored two early goals in the first 15 or 20 minutes and put us in a bit of a hole," Severo said. "After that we changed our formation a little bit and added an extra midfielder and that helped us. We played much better in the second half. I was happy with the way we played. We never quit."

The Rams will look to keep up their fine play of late this week in a pair of non-league games, against Weston on Wednesday and Triton on Saturday.

GIRLS SOCCER

The Shawsheen Girls Soccer team picked up three more wins this past week, improving to 6-1 on the season. The Lady Rams began their week with a 2-0 win over Mystic Valley last Wednesday, before following that up with a 5-1 win over Essex Tech on Friday and a 5-0 rout Chelsea on Tuesday, with all three games being played on the road.

Probably their most impressive win of the week in the opinion of coach Doug Michaud was their narrowest win, the 2-0 triumph over Mystic Valley last Wednesday.

"That was a great win for us. We really played well, and so did Mystic. They are a very good team," Michaud said. "They fought us the entire game. We played on their turf field, which made our passing game work really well and I felt like that eventually helped us to wear out Mystic."

Yvette Simoes got Shawsheen on the board with the first goal of the game about ten minutes into the second half, and Emily Irwin doubled the in the contest on a fine set up by Lynne Snook after some fine passing all the way up the field, starting with goalie Janina Kennedy, who started the ball up field.

"It actually all started with some good passing back to Janina," Michaud said. "And she switched fields and set things up on the opposite side and we started the ball up field. Lynne and Emily had a couple of nice one time passes and then Lynne set up Emily going to the net and she barely even had to shoot it past the goalie."

In the 5-1 win over Essex Tech, the Lady Rams got a pair of goals from Irwin and single goals from Snook, Nicole Malfa of Tewksbury and Lisa Ferreri. Irwin has long been a star for the Lady Rams and the trio of Snook, Malfa and Ferreri are becoming more and more adept at putting the ball in the back of the net.

"They are doing a great job," Michaud said. "Most teams probably would not have them as their top scorers since they are midfielders, but they are excellent players. We want to get everyone involved in the offense, not just one or two players."

Kennedy also played very well in the win, as she did all week, making 12 saves to earn the win.

"Janina played very well. She made a lot of aggressive stops on the ball where she would break up the play before it had time to get established," Michaud said. "She made 12 saves, but she also had about seven played where she just stopped them in their tracks."

The Lady Rams closed out their week with a 5-0 win over Chelsea on Tuesday, getting a pair of goals from Irwin, along with single goals from Snook, Ferreri and Skylar Jacques of Tewksbury.

Shawsheen will look to continue their winning ways this week when they take on non-league rivals St. Joe's Prep on Thursday and Triton, who eliminated them from post season play last season, on Saturday.

GOLF

It was an up and down week for the Shawsheen Tech Golf team as they went 2-1 in their three matches, picking up CAC wins over Minuteman last Tuesday and Greater Lawrence last Thursday before suffering a loss to non-league rival Austin Prep this Tuesday afternoon.

In the 7-2 win over Minuteman, the Rams got fine efforts from captain and number one player Steve Ferreira of Tewksbury, who shot a 40, along with Mike Kelly (44), Ryan Collins (42), and Chris Mills (41).

"That was a good win for us," Shawsheen coach Tom Struthers said. "They are a good team, one of the top teams they have ever had, so it was big for us to beat them."

The Rams got another big win on Thursday when they routed CAC rival Greater Lawrence 9-0 at Patriot Golf Course, behind the efforts of Ferreira, who was the overall medalist with a 1-over par 36 and Kelly, who fired a 42.

Unlike the win over Minuteman, the win over Greater Lawrence was not as much of an indication of how well the Rams played, but more of a reflection of a still building program at Greater Lawrence.

"They have always had a tough time bringing kids into the program and had a tough time getting a coach to work with kids," Struthers said. "They are getting there. They have a very good coach and a couple of good players, but it is still going to take them some time to be where they want to be."

The Rams found themselves on the opposite end of a blowout this Tuesday in an 8-1 loss to Austin Prep at Patriot Golf Course. "It was an unusual outcome for the Rams, who have had several tough battles with Austin Prep over the years, winning some and losing some, but always being competitive."

"This is the first time I can remember losing to them on our course. Usually we win at our place and they win at theirs," Struthers said. "We actually didn't play too badly at the top of our lineup, but we did not play well all the way through our lineup."

Ferreira shot a 43 in a losing effort for the Rams, while Mills had the lowest Rams score of the day with a 39.

The Rams will be back in action on Thursday against Essex Tech before hosting CAC rival Northeast at the Patriot next Tuesday. Northeast handed the Rams a rare league loss earlier in the season, but also suffered a loss to Minuteman this past week, making next Tuesday's match virtually a league title match.

"Their coach told me before we played them last time that this is the best team he has ever had and I think he was right. They were very good," Struthers said. "It is going to be interesting to see what happens when we face them on Tuesday. As of now, we have three very similar teams battling for the top spot with us, Minuteman and Northeast. You never know what is going to happen when we face each other."

Red Raiders too much for Rams on the gridiron

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA - The good news for the Shawsheen Tech Football team is that the non-league portion of their schedule is over. Not to denigrate the competition they will now be facing in their upcoming stretch of games against Commonwealth Athletic Conference rivals, but it will likely be a nice change for the Division 5 Rams to no longer be facing teams from a higher division as they did in the non-league portion of their schedule which they wrapped up last Saturday afternoon with a 26-6 loss to Watertown at Samuel J. Cassidy Field.

Along with a season opening loss to Division 4 Arlington Catholic in the first week of the season and a loss to Division 5 powerhouse Austin Prep two weeks ago, last Saturday's loss to Division 4 Watertown dropped the Rams to 0-3 as they head into their CAC schedule beginning this Saturday at Greater Lowell.

"Next week the league season starts and it is a chance for us to get back and get into the win column," Shawsheen coach Al Costabile said. "It is a chance for the Rams to bounce back and get people feeling a little better about themselves."

Watertown dominated the Rams for much of the game in Saturday's matchup, out-gaining them 290-153 overall and 271-124 on the ground. But as much as they were dominated in the first half, when they could muster only 39 yards of offense, the Rams were very much in the game until the closing moments of the half.

Shawsheen trailed the Red Raiders only 6-0 with about 1:40 left in the half, and had forced Watertown into a third and three situation from the Rams 22 yard line. But from there it all fell apart for Shawsheen. Two plays later Watertown had extended their lead to 13-0 with 1:20 left in the half, and after holding Shawsheen to a three-and-out, they made it 20-0 with 34 seconds left and never looked back.

On that third-and-three play, Watertown's Austin

Farry raced 21 yards down to the Shawsheen one yard before Alex Martinos scored on the next play to make it 13-0.

The lead became 20-0 when Watertown forced Shawsheen to punt on their next possession, and returned it 45 yards to the Rams eight yard line. From there, it took just one play before quarterback Nick Giordano hit junior wide receiver Kyle Foley with a scoring pass to give the Raiders a comfortable lead at the half.

While they were certainly very much in the game on the scoreboard prior to the two late Watertown touchdowns, Costabile knew his team was being dominated by the larger and faster Red Raiders.

"They dominated the line of scrimmage on both sides of the ball and when that happens you are fighting uphill," Costabile said. "The game of football is still about winning the trenches and this is two weeks in a row where the opposition has won the trenches. Not so much in the first game, but in the last two definitely."

"It just stifles a lot of things you are trying to do if you can't establish the line of scrimmage and it was clear to see early in the game that was going to be an uphill battle."

Shawsheen played much better in the second half, but it was not enough to overcome the large deficit and they scored their lone touchdown of the game early in the fourth quarter on an 80-yard run by senior running back Chris Arkalis.

Watertown had taken the lead midway through the first quarter, when after recovering a Shawsheen fumble at the Rams 35-yard line, they needed six plays before sophomore running back Zachary Rimza plunged in from one yard out with 5:40 left in the quarter to make the score 6-0 after the failed extra point.

That is how the score would remain until the closing moments of the half, when Watertown would score twice and the Rams, despite their best efforts, were unable to recover in the second half.

Shawsheen did get a glimmer of hope early in the fourth quarter on Arkalis touchdown run with 9:51 left in the game. Arkalis took a handoff up the middle, broke tackles in the secondary and then out raced the Watertown defenders down the right sideline for the score to pull Shawsheen 20-6 with the failed conversion pass.

But Watertown, who had struggled for much of the second half to move the ball against the Shawsheen defense, finally began to move the ball after the Rams touchdown, going on a 13-play, 70-yard drive that was capped with an eight yard touchdown run by Rimza with 2:26 left in the game for his second touchdown of the day.

Shawsheen will look to break into the win column Saturday when they travel to Tyngsboro to take on Greater Lowell to open the CAC portion of their schedule. Kickoff is at 1:30.

Local College Round-Up

McDermott and McColgan continue to toss up aces

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

A pair of tennis stars kick off our weekly coverage of local athletes now competing at the collegiate level.

Salem State junior April McDermott, the captain of the Vikings Women's Tennis team, won both of her matches last Saturday, during a 6-3 loss to Bridgewater State. McDermott took her singles match in straight sets by a score of 6-4, 6-1, and joined with teammate Jennifer Cleary to win her doubles match by a score of 8-6.

It was the second time this season that McDermott has won two matches in one day for her team, also accomplishing the feat on September 11 in a 9-0 win over Curry.

Nicole McColgan, a junior with the Wentworth Women's Tennis team, also won a pair of matches in one day for her team this week, winning in singles and doubles for the Leopards last Friday in an 8-1 win over Curry.

McColgan won her singles match by a score of 6-3, 6-1, and teamed with Emily Jodoin to win her doubles match by a score of 8-3.

In volleyball, Eastern Connecticut State junior star Affie Luppi was named Defensive Player of the Week for the second time in three weeks. She had two assists and a team high 26 digs to lead ECSU to a 3-1 victory over Southern Maine last Saturday. It was one of two great matches for Luppi on the day, as she also had a team high 18 digs to go along with four assists in a win over Lasell later in the day.

Luppi leads the team in total digs (215) and reception attempts (293) on the season. In cross-country action, Brian Amaral continued his strong season for the Fitchburg State Cross Country team this past weekend. The freshman finished 12th overall in a field of 255 runners at the UMass Dartmouth Invitational, finishing the five mile course in a time of 25:37.03, helping the Falcons to finish 14th out of 34 teams.

Amaral's efforts earned him MASCAC Rookie of the Week honors.

Football also had it share of standouts, starting with Fitchburg State sophomore tight end Devin Summiel, who had another outstanding game for the Falcons Football team on Saturday. The 2013 graduate of Shawsheen Tech had seven catches for 105 yards in a 29-26 loss to Framingham State. Summiel now has 15 receptions for 308 yards on the season.

Johnny Aylward, who last fall quarterbacked the Tewksbury High Football team to the Division 3 state championship, got his prep football career off to a great start last Saturday. Aylward threw for 232 yards and four touchdowns to lead the Williston Northampton School to a 35-28 win over the Westminster School.

Eddie Matovu had a pair of tackles, including one solo in a 38-35 win for the St. Anselm Football team over Bentley University last Saturday. Matovu, a freshman linebacker, has played in all three games this season for the 3-0 Hawks.

In soccer, Aly Spencer had a goal for the Holy Cross Women's Soccer team in the Crusaders' 2-0 win over UMass Lowell last Wednesday. The freshman forward now leads the team with seven goals and 16 points on the season.

Alexa Poulin, a sophomore midfielder with the Southern New Hampshire University Women's Soccer team, had the only goal of the game for the PenMen in a 2-1 loss to LIU Post last Wednesday. It was the first goal of the season for the 2013 Central Catholic grad.

Turning to field hockey Salem State sophomore player Natalie Bourne had an assist for the Vikings in their 4-1 win over Becker College last Wednesday.

Hayley Sutherland has started all six games for the Worcester State Field Hockey team this season. The freshman midfielder has helped lead the Lancers to a 4-2 record to this point.

WILMINGTON

Several local athletes made their mark with their collegiate cross country teams this week.

Bentley University sophomore Erik Alatalo helped the Falcons Cross Country team to a fifth place finish (out of 34 teams) at the UMass Dartmouth Invitational on Saturday. Alatalo finished 29th overall in a field of over 230 runners, covering the five mile course in a time of 26:03.02.

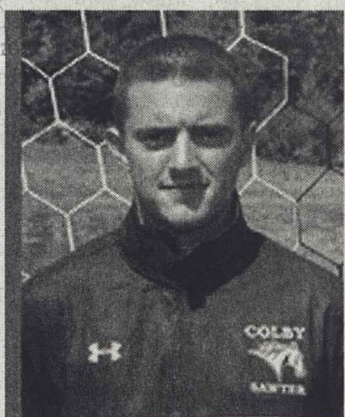

Fitchburg State junior Chris Monteforte also competed in the UMass Dartmouth Invitational, finishing in a time of 32:36.79 at the UMass Dartmouth Invitational.

Rivier University junior Joe Fitzgerald finished 17th overall and second on his team to help the Raiders to a fourth place finish at the Rivier University Raider Invitational on Saturday. The 2012 graduate of Wilmington High finished the five mile course in a time of 32:25.00.

Emerson College sophomore Savannah Hubbard finished ninth overall to help the Lions Cross Country team to a first place finish at the Rivier University Raider Invitational on Saturday. Hubbard was one of four Lions runners to complete the course in under 24 minutes.

In field hockey, Jocelyn Cornish, a freshman with the Becker College Field Hockey team, has played in all six games for the Hawks this season. The 2014 graduate of Wilmington High is a midfielder.

Soccer saw its share of stars, starting with Zach Anderson, a junior defender with the Colby-Sawyer Men's Soccer team, who scored the first goal of his collegiate career on September 14 to help lead the Chargers to a 5-0 victory over Newbury. The 2012 graduate of Wilmington

High has started all seven games for the team this season.

Holly Niemiec had an assist for the Ithaca College Women's Soccer team on Saturday, as the Bombers opened their Empire 8 Conference schedule with a 6-1 win over Alfred University. The sophomore forward and her Ithaca teammates are now 5-1 overall on the season.

Lauren McKenna, a sophomore defender with the Maine Maritime Women's Soccer team, has started all six games for the Mariners this season. McKenna, along with her fellow defenders, have combined to allow only 1.33 goals per game, a figure that drops to less than one goal per game excluding a 4-0 loss to Berry back on August 31.

Nichols College freshman midfielder Rachel McLaren scored the first point of her collegiate last Thursday in a 7-1 victory over Mount Ida College. The 2014 graduate of Shawsheen Tech has now played in five of the Bison's seven games this season.

Worcester State freshman forward Ashleigh Howland also scored the first point of her collegiate career this week, notching an assist in a 4-0 Lancers win over MCLA on Saturday. The 2014 graduate of Wilmington High has now played in all six games for the Lancers this season.

In volleyball, UMass Lowell's Lauren Bennett had seven kills, three digs and four block assists last Saturday in the River Hawks 3-2 loss to Chicago State last Saturday in the Chicago State Tournament. The sophomore middle blocker has started ten matches for the Division 1 River Hawks this season.

Finally, in football, Worcester State senior linebacker Sean Hanley, a 2011 graduate of Wilmington High, had nine total tackles, six of them solo, for the Lancers in a loss to Bridgewater State last Saturday. Through three games Hanley is tied for the team lead in tackles with 20, along with being second on the team with three sacks.

Meghan Braciska of Tewksbury, a Junior at Austin Prep in Reading, participated in her first half marathon (13.1 miles), "The Triple Threat Half Marathon" in Rockport, MA recently, finishing in just under two hours. Braciska Runs Winter and Spring Track and also plays Soccer at AP.

ROAD RACE RESULTS

Several local athletes competed in road races this past week.

At the Wicked Half Marathon in Salem, Matthew Bashalany of Tewksbury led all local finishers with a time of 1:45.27.8 while Wilmington's Lauren Nieuweboer finished in a time of 2:01.03.2 and another Wilmington resident Stephen Sullivan completed the course in 2:30.58.0.

At the Run for Help 5K in Chelmsford the Barron

Family of Tewksbury made their presence felt. Nine year old Carrina led the way for the family finishing 27 overall in a time of 25:06, with mom Nadine finishing in 30:25, eight year old Cade, posting a time of 31:56 and dad Luke crossing the finish line with Cade in an official time of 31:57. Another Tewksbury resident, Ginny Van Gorder finished in 32:21. At the 6th Annual Littleton One Mile Fun Run, Jasmine Clark finished in a time of 11:10.

On This Date in Wilmington Sports History

Luz and Butters led their teams back five years ago

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

So after a couple months absence, the "On This Date" column will reappear now in Wilmington Sports during this week in 2009, 2004, 1999, 1994, 1989, 1984, 1974 and 1964. So here goes:

2009 (5 years ago)

The Wilmington High School Field Hockey team was off to a terrific 3-1 start under then head coach Jodi MacKenzie, coming just a year after the program finished 3-13-1. Sarah Luz was leading the team as its goalie, playing the sport and the position for the first time in her life.

The WHS Boys Soccer team was off to a 3-0 start.

And the WHS Football team defeated Shawsheen Tech, 35-2, behind the performance of Evan Butters, who had a combined 205 yards of offense including three touchdowns.

2004 (10 years ago)

The WHS Golf team was undefeated at 4-0 behind the performances of Zach Ungvarsky and Kevin Velardo.

This reporter spent a morning with then Boston Celtic captain Paul Pierce, who picked up then Tewksbury 12 year-old Amanda Fleming for school in a limo after she had won a contest.

Chris Murray surpassed his own course record at WHS as part of the cross-country team, bettering his previous time by ten seconds at 16:59 in the team's win over North Reading.

Debbie Lyons scored both goals helping the Wildcat Girls Soccer team tie up Tewksbury, 2-2.

The WHS Football team blasted Amesbury 35-6 to go

2-0. Joe Herra kept the fans awake in this one, throwing two touchdown passes for 135 yards.

1999 (15 years ago)

The WHS Boys Soccer team was off to a great start, and four of the team's seniors, Andy Meyers, Dan Keating, Jim Roarke and AJ Mitzan were featured for not only their strong friendship with one another, but for being ranked No. 2-5 in their academic class.

The WHS Football team defeated Masconomet, 14-6, in a great battle.

1994 (20 years)

It was 20 years ago this week when the Town of Wilmington lost one of its own as then football player Shane Warford passed away in an automobile accident. His teammates honored him before the team's next game, which unfortunately was a 42-0 loss to Central Catholic.

The WHS Volleyball team won its first match in three years against Lowell under then head coach Mike Nee. Erin Falzone nailed down the win with three straight service points.

1989 (25 years ago)

The WHS Football team defeated Lawrence 13-9 in the season opener. Bob Fleming rushed for 75 yards, while quarterback Dennis Walsh completed 13 passes - including a TD strike to Hall of Famer Bob Voner - while he also ran in a 9-yard TD run and booted a PAT kick. The team was coached by now Athletic Director Ed Harrison.

1984 (30 years ago)

The WHS Field Hockey team was off to a strong 4-1 start under then head coach and current WHS Hall of Famer Jan Cassidy-Wood. The team defeated

Lawrence, 2-1, Dracut 8-1, Tewksbury 4-0 and Haverhill 5-0. To that point of the season, Kristen Butt was leading the team with 6 goals and 3 assists, while Kathy Robinson had 4 goals and 5 assists. The defense was led by goalie Kristen Pepe, as well as backs Aurielle Smith, senior captain Janet Crowley and Rene Allaby.

The WHS Boys Soccer team was riding a four-game winning streak which included a 3-1 win over one of the top teams in the state in Andover. Goalie Steven Ferante had a huge performance in the net in that contest. The Wildcats also knocked off Lawrence, 3-0, Methuen 4-2 and also topped Haverhill behind two goals by Jimmy Taylor and one each from Bill Zambernardi and Bob Seville.

The WHS Football team, under coach Harrison, defeated Lawrence, 27-0 to improve to 2-0. Tony Cutone scored two touchdowns and Brian Moon booted two PATs.

1974 (40 years ago)

The WHS Football team defeated Stoneham, 22-14, as quarterback Carl Butler tossed two touchdown passes and Bob Bavota scored the other.

In WHS Boys Soccer action, the Wildcats topped Shawsheen Tech 5-0 as Chris DiCecca scored his second straight hat trick to help the team improve to 4-0 under then head coach and Hall of Famer Frank Lettini.

The WHS Boys Cross-Country team participated at the Tewksbury Invitational Meet and Doug Spring and Ian MacInnis finished second and third leading the team to a first place finish.

1964 (50 years ago)

row and we have invited up some JV kids to make us work. It's going to be a game-like practice, no messing around and we're going to fix all of our mistakes because this is not going to continue to happen. Right now, we lost lost twelve straight sets and it's just been a downward spiral and a mess. We're on a real good match streak right now, just it's on the wrong side."

Wilmington had small leads in all three matches and seemed to lose a lot of focus in the middle of each one. In the first set, the Wildcats led 7-4 and then were tied up at 11 before Burlington dominated the rest of the way to win 25-15. In the second set, Wilmington led 11-9, only to see the Red Devils respond and go up 21-17 before the 'Cats put up a late fight, only to lose 25-22. In the third set, the 'Cats led 7-5 before Burlington outscored them 11-1 to go up 16-8. Wilmington did fight back again late in the third, but by that time it was too late and fell 25-22. In fact, the 'Cats only had three kills in that final set.

Of the three sets, the lone bright spot was the play of Abigail Chase. She kept rallies going in the second set, stopped a few by Burlington, and played very well all-around the court. She finished with four kills in the game, second highest on the team and she didn't even start.

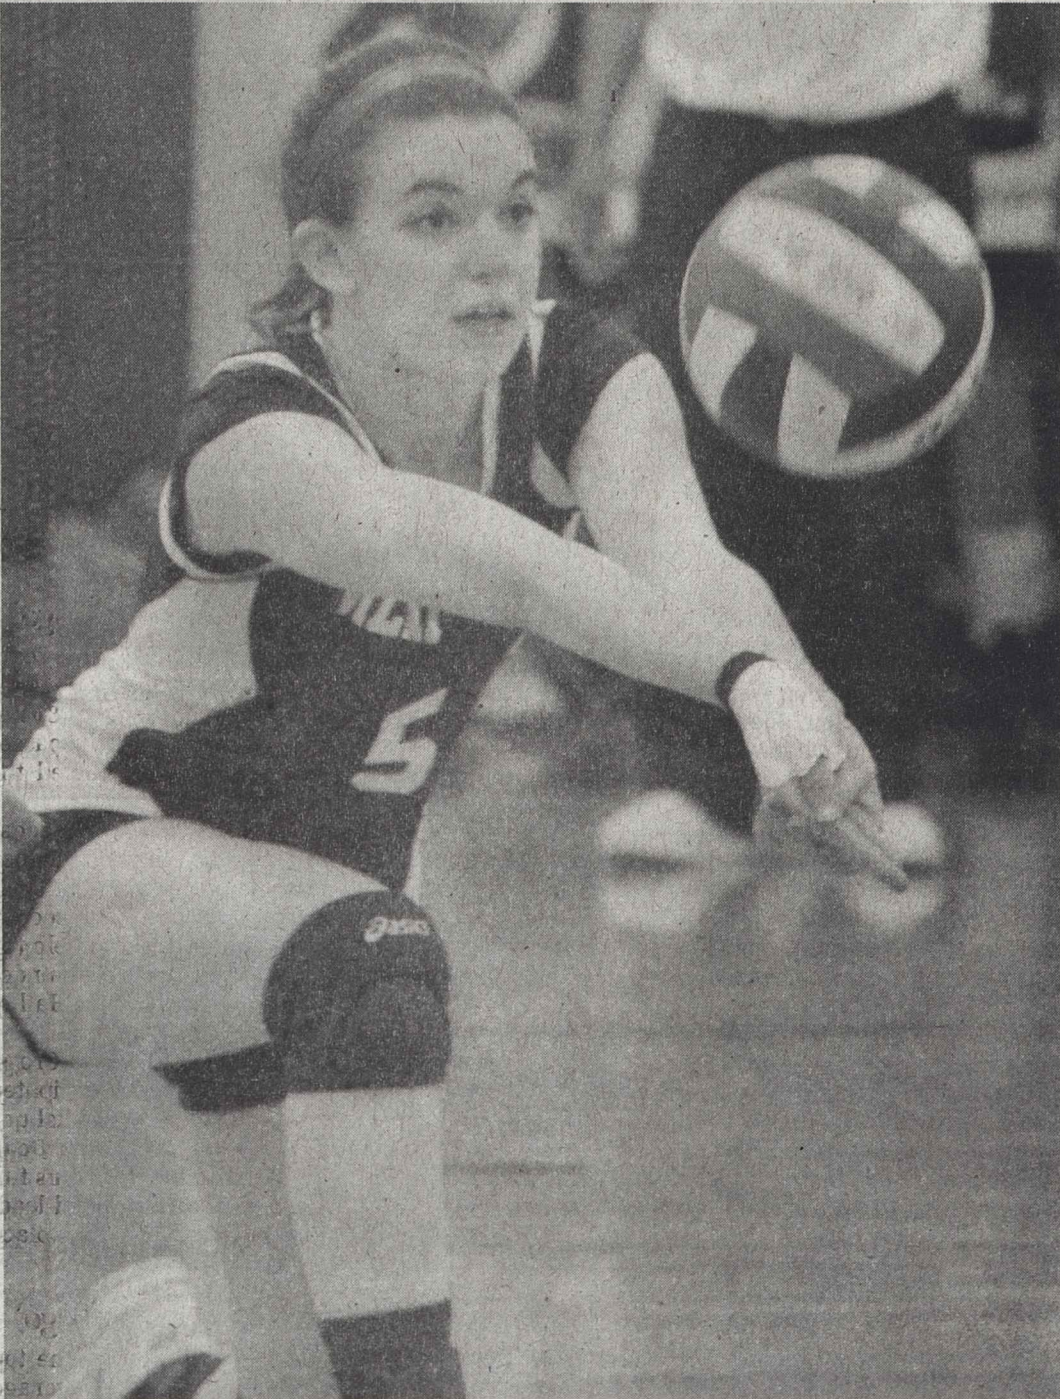

"Abigail played awesome," said Sheehy. "She came in and played the best that she's ever played for us. I think she had four kills in that (second) set, she had her hands in on some blocks, she had some digs from the back row and she got thrown in and really did a great job. Some of these girls who have been playing well are proving that they deserve a spot on the court and the people who do have spots right now on the court, need to prove that they belong out there."

Hannah Brown led the way with 5 kills and 4 blocks, followed by Chase, who had four kills. Erica Pudvelis and Kathryn Bischoff had two kills each. Kristen Connors led the team with six service points and Dishan Bagayo had four. They both also had one ace each.

Earlier in the week, Wilmington was defeated by Melrose, 3-0.

Wilmington is very busy this week with games against Hamilton-Wenham on Monday, Watertown on Tuesday and Lynnfield on Wednesday.

remained the same until the final four minutes when Wakefield converted off its only corner of the game.

Earlier this week the 'Cats defeated Melrose 3-0 behind two goals by Bridget Sullivan and one from Nicole McInney. Lauren Fitch and Bethany Kane had one assist each and goalie Rose Cuozzo made five saves to post the shutout.

Two days earlier, Wilmington tied Burlington 1-1 as McInney scored the lone goal of the game.

Wilmington is off until Saturday morning when it faces Watertown, who wins the state championship nearly every year. The game begins at 10:00 am on the turf field.

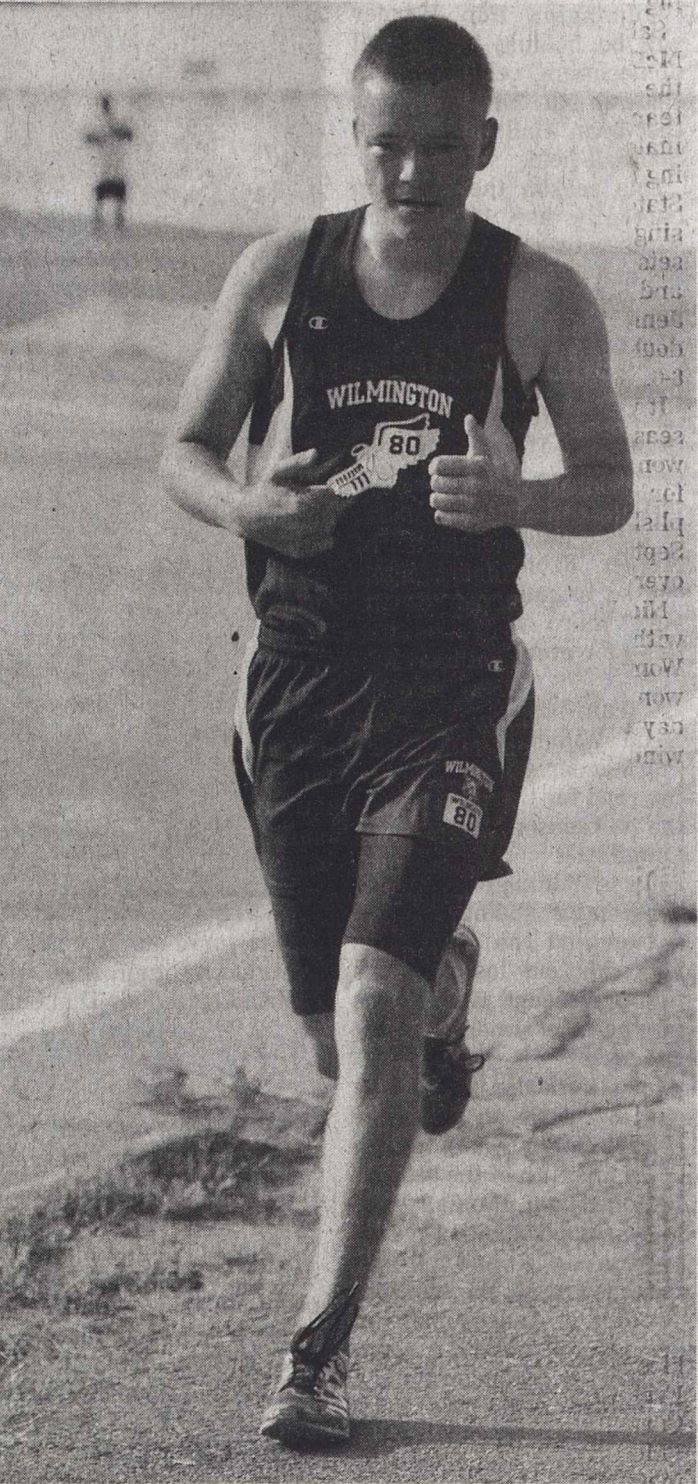

FH FUNDRAISERS

The WHS Varsity and JV Field Hockey teams have announced that all proceeds from this Wednesday's game against Belmont at home will go directly to "Playing 4 A Cure", a fundraiser for breast cancer awareness. The JV game starts at 4:30 and the varsity game begins at 6:00 pm.

The Freshmen team's fundraising game will be held on Monday, October 6th. All three Wilmington teams will be selling bracelets and taking donations during all three games with all of the proceeds to be donated to "Longstreth, Play 4 The Cure and NFRC.org."

"The kids were comfortable the entire race, and as they finished. I wanted them to see that even at a comfortable pace and progressing through the race, they would still have managed to run defeated by Burlington losing 21-38 to also fall to 0-3 on the season. Elisabeth Olson was the team's top runner once again as she was fourth overall coming in at 20:08. She was followed by Jackie

CROSS-COUNTRY

The WHS Boys Cross Country team was defeated by Burlington, 15-50, on Tuesday afternoon to fall to 0-3 on the season. Kevin Dunn finished first for Wilmington and was 9th overall with a time of 18:13. He was followed by: Chris Maienza (18:14), Conor Bailey (18:26), Rob Hartsough (18:57), Dan Bell (19:09), Jason Dunn (19:12), Andrew Hanlon (20:41) and Vinny Pietropaolo (25:47).

"I had the team use this race as a workout day for the week," said coach Brian Schell. "Having them do a tempo workout and seeing these times, I know they are ready for their first 5K in Wrentham this Saturday.

their best times on a full course. I am really looking forward to the Frank Kelly Invitational meet on Saturday, as it will be the first true test for the kids this season course wise."

The Girls team also was

Ryan (5th at 20:11), Maeve Sullivan (6th, 20:18), Stacy Robichaud (11th, 22:24), Emily Monteforte (14th, 23:09) and Annie Romanzo. "I was very happy with the times and the effort," said coach Tom Bradley.

Fifth annual Heritage Golf Tournament, October 3

In celebration of October as Italian Heritage Month, the Wilmington Sons of Italy, the Italian Heritage Committee and the Grand Lodge Sons of Italy in Massachusetts, is holding their 5th Annual Golf Tournament.

This year's event will take place on Friday, October 3, 2014, at the Merrimack Valley Golf Club in Methuen, Massachusetts. Tee time is 8:30 am, a shotgun start and the format is best ball.

"It was a great goal," said Scanlon. "He took a left footed shot and the ball was bending and into went right into the top left corner. Great goal."

In both games, goalie Ryan Horgan registered shut outs making three saves in the first and seven in the second.

"Against Melrose he took a lot of things out of play which was huge and against Wakefield, he played really well," said Scanlon. "It was tough with the wind. It was taking balls all over the place and the kid played well."

Through six games this season, the Wildcats have five different goal scorers. Goncalves leads the team with three, followed by McCall with two, while Kinsella, Gabb Saenchandi and Spurr have one each. Horgan has made 32 saves and given up just 5 goals.

A Team keeps up its impressive winning ways

Pop Warner Round-Up

Wilmington Pop Warner will be holding its' annual homecoming celebration on October 5th, 2014 all day at the Town Hall, Glen Road Football field.

This season the program currently has 175 participants between football players and cheerleaders and 90 participants in the flag football/cheerleading program.

This event will include many activities for the entire Wilmington community to enjoy. Please join us as we cheer on all of our fantastic football teams, many of which are in playoff contention. From an obstacle course to raffles and great food, there will be something for everyone!

A Team Wins

The Wilmington Wildcats Pop Warner A Team went on the road for the first time in the 2014 season and defeated Lowell 22-0.

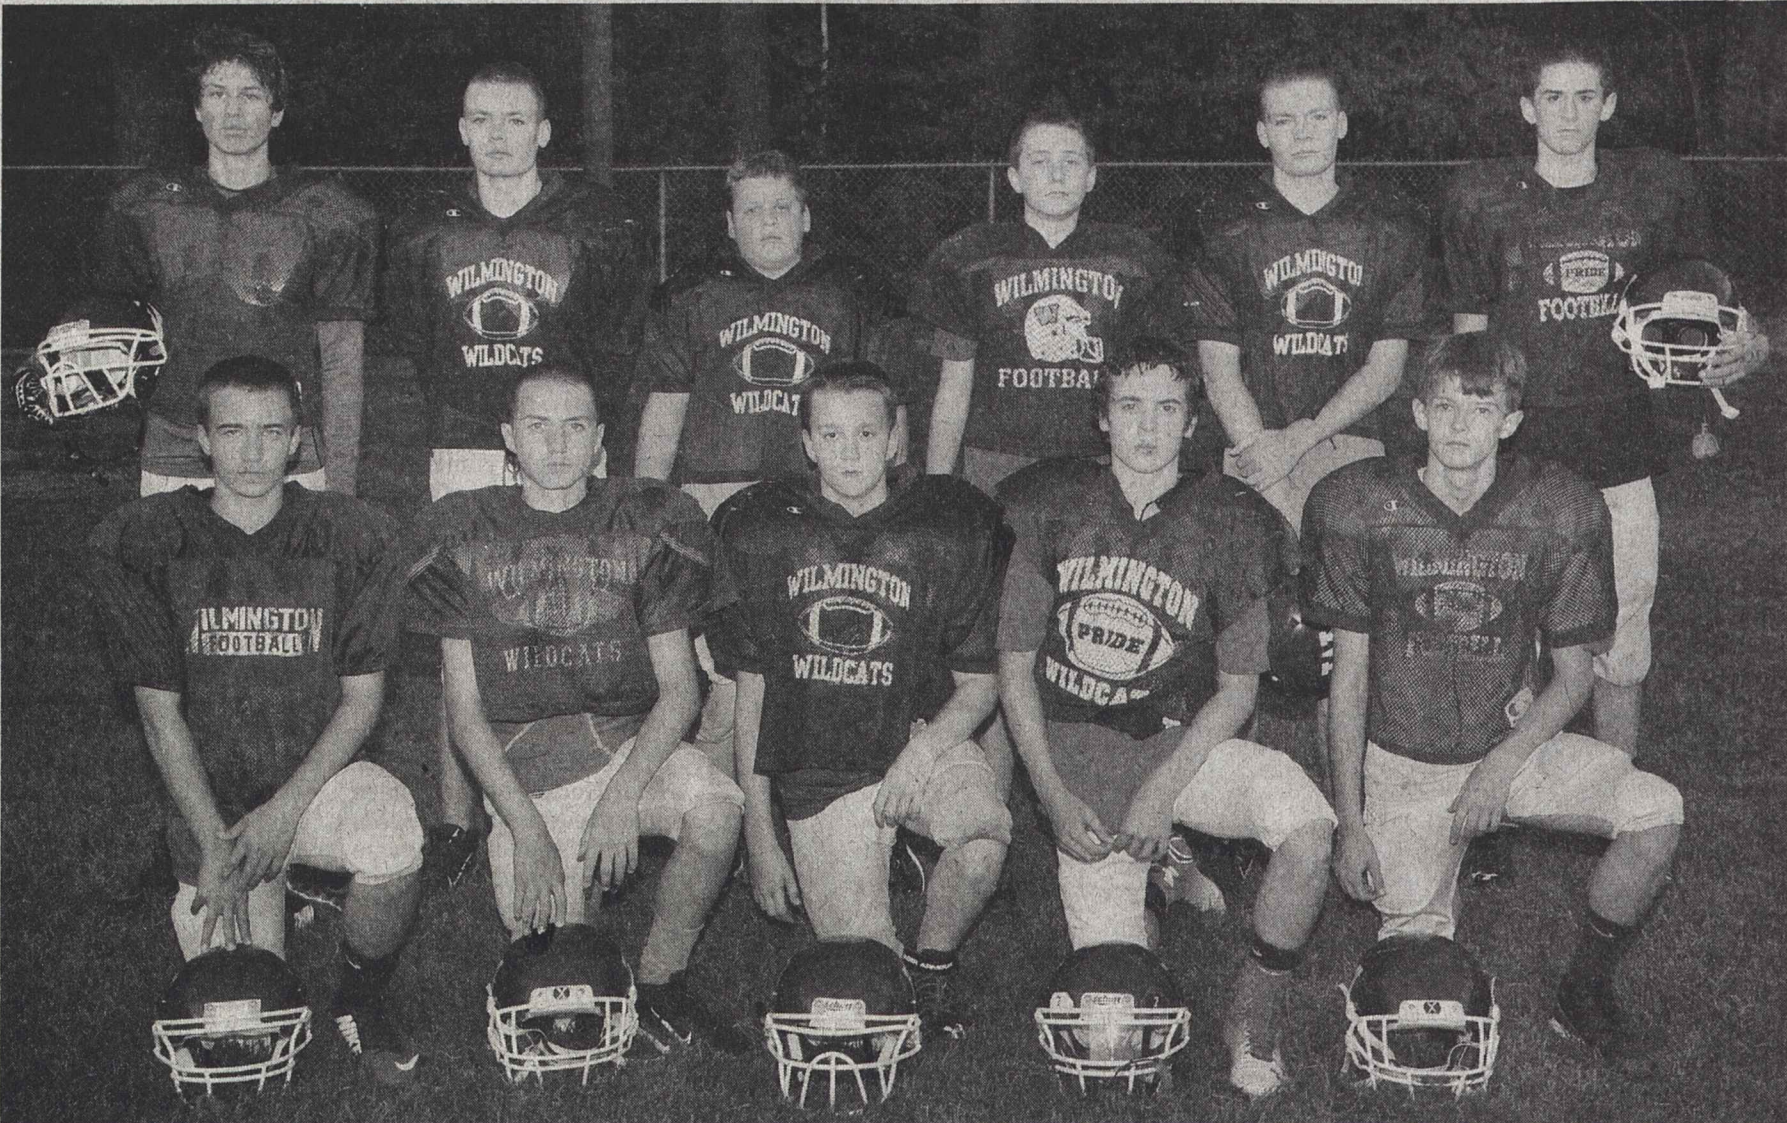

It was Wilmington's second consecutive shutout for the season and the squad has now shut out last season's first and second place teams in the Merrimack Valley League.

Joey Dumoulin led the way with 67 yards on only four carries as well as a touchdown, his fifth of the season. Running back Randall Vega had a solid day with 24 yards on five carries and his first touchdown of the season. The duo of Andrew Sullivan and Peter Marino contributed a touchdown on a five yard pass play from Sullivan to Dumoulin.

Wilmington struck quickly on their first offensive series. Dumoulin followed up a three yard run with a 57-yard run on the second play of the series to put Wilmington up 6-0. The extra point was good by Adam Bishop and the Wildcats jumped out to a quick 8-0 lead.

The blocking on the play was excellent with the offensive line of Michael Steen, Owen Steen, Kyle Kenyon, Colin Rooney and Chris Medeiros doing what they've done all season and open up huge running lanes for our backs. Bishop and wide receiver Nick Kullman also had big blocks on the play which ran to their side of the field.

As good as the line blocking has been for Wilmington, the perimeter blocking by Kullman and Bishop has

The Wildcat defense took the field and after two snaps that went over the Lowell quarterback's head, Wilmington held and got the ball back in excellent field position.

The Wildcats immediately went with another offense to try and maximize playing time for all team members early in the game. Sean Kelley came in at quarterback with Bailey Smith (four carries, 11 yards) at fullback, Kyle Munro (two carries, eight yards) and Randall Vega (five carries, 24 yards and a touchdown) at halfback completed the Wildcat backfield.

On the line, Wilmington had Chris Stokes and Jason Marquard at tight end, Will Ameral at center, Ben Stafford and Max Caso at guard and Omar Eldaly and Michael Smolinsky at tackle. The offense had a tough series, losing two yards on three plays and being forced to punt.

The defense came out and continued to stop Lowell. The defense was led by the linebacker corps of Dumoulin, Kenyon and Marino. Together they combined for 16 tackles and five tackles-for-loss on the day.

Defensive tackle Jake Timmons (1.5 tackles, one tackle-for-loss) and defensive end Frankie Irizarry (three tackles, one tackle-for-loss) also played a big role on defense.

After the stop, the Wildcat offense came back on the field.

The drive was going well. A four-yard run by Vega followed by an eight yard run by Smith and a five yard run by Kelley put Wilmington in good position but back-to-back false start penalties backed Wilmington up and made it second-and-15.

A five-yard run by Munro made it third-and-ten Wilmington went back to their first offense and Marino had a six-yard run to make it fourth-and-four from the Lowell five yard line. Sullivan through a strike to Marino on the fourth down play and Marino took the ball into the endzone to put Wilmington on top 14-0.

On their final offensive possession of the first half, Wilmington went back with their second offense. Smith had a three yard run followed by an incomplete pass from Kelley to Marquard. Munro gained three yards on third-and-seven setting up a crucial fourth down play. On that play, Irizarry motioned across the field and took the handoff from Sullivan and took off for a 20-yard gain up the right sideline to give Wilmington a first down.

Three plays later, Vega scampered around the right side for his first touchdown of the season. The PAT was good and Wilmington took a 22-0 lead into the half.

Although the Wildcat offense failed to score in the second half, the defense was excellent. Lowell took to the air to try and cut into the Wilmington lead but excellent corner play by Devin Clerico on one side and Kyle Munro/Adam Bishop on the other side shut down the Lowell wide receivers.

Wilmington capitalized on two Lowell passes in the second half with interceptions by Sullivan and Marino. Marino's interception came late in the second half with Lowell looking to score. He managed to ramble 90 yards before being knocked out of bounds at the Lowell four yard line. With less than two minutes in the game, Wilmington took a knee and ran out the clock.

D2

Wildcats 26, Lowell 0

The Wildcats D2 team won a big over Lowell on their first away game of the season.

Wilmington scored in the opening minutes of the game when Andre Turner returned a kickoff for a touchdown.

The Wildcats would score quickly again with a touchdown run by Billy Dumoulin putting them ahead 12-0.

Defensively the Wildcats played a strong game behind Dennis McConologue, who had two sacks, Bobby Dodge, Justin Delorey and Ryan Watson.

The offensive could not be stopped with key blocks by Jacob Roque, Derek Maguire, Mason Glover, and James Federico. In a combined offensive effort, fullbacks Joey Kullman and Aiden Macleod both pushed in a touchdown for Wilmington.

The D2 team recorded their first point after attempt with a beautiful kick by Dominic Gabardii.

The Wildcats shut out Lowell with a final score of 26-0.

DiCecca hasn't missed a beat

In previous years, DiCecca has been more of a defensive specialist, playing mostly as a center midfielder but this season, Wilkinson has moved him to the outside where he has become more of an offensive threat.

"I feel like his strongest position is as an outside middy because he has the speed and the skill to be successful on the outside," Wilkinson said. "That is why we changed his role with the team this season. It allows him to go more at defenders and create more scoring opportunities."

DiCecca has appreciated the opportunity given to him by Wilkinson, just as he as appreciated what Wilkinson has brought to the soccer program since coming on board at Colby-Sawyer last season. He credits Wilkinson for much of his early season success.

"Coach Wilkinson has turned the program around from my first two years here. It has just been a world of difference," DiCecca said. "He has changed my playing style a lot by moving me to the outside. Now I am much more in a where it is attack, attack, attack."

"I have three goals now, but really I should have even more. I have high expectations for myself, as does coach Wilkinson, and I hope to achieve or surpass those."

DiCecca has also set some high goals for what he expects the Chargers to accomplish as a team this season. After going 9-9-1 last season, they are off to a 3-3-1 start this season, but DiCecca sees better days ahead for the rest of the season.

"Most definitely, I think we can do better than last season," DiCecca said. "We have had a couple of close games where we either lost or tied where we really felt we could have won. Our record at this point really does not reflect how good we can be."

DiCecca is no stranger to being around winning teams, having played for four years under the direction of Steve Scanlon at Wilmington High, including his memorable junior season in 2009 when the Wildcats were 19-1-3 and advanced all the way to the North Sectional finals.

DiCecca, who was a CAL All-Star and an All-Conference selection during his time with the Wildcats, still carries with him many of the lessons he learned from Scanlon's coaching.

"Playing with coach Scanlon was an honor," DiCecca said. "He really taught me how to play a tough, hard nosed game and that has carried over to college. Coach Scanlon wanted us to play hard and play smart, and that is how coach Wilkinson wants us to play as well. I learned a lot from coach Scanlon."

DiCecca's only bigger supporters than Scanlon during his high school and college playing career were his parents, Chris and Karen, who continue to be his biggest fans.

"They've done everything for me," DiCecca said. "They have helped and supported me through everything. My father has not missed any of my games either in high school or college, and my mom has made every game this year as well. They have been incredibly supportive, so I hope to make it a memorable senior season for them."

Maguire has tough act of coaching two teams stressing is about responsibility at their positions," Maguire said about his first-year in the Wilmington youth program. "The first thing we stress at the beginning of every practice is the fundamentals of blocking and tackling, the proper steps and the safety of it."

Maguire has been working on these fundamentals since his childhood in Burlington, where he grew up as one of ten children. A star quarterback back for the football program and a very good hitter on the baseball team, Maguire graduated in 1975. And he was not the only renowned athlete of his family. Four of his six brothers also played QB at BHS while his father not only played the game, but also coached for 25 years, including at Harvard University.

After leaving BHS, Maguire went on to become a three-year starter as quarterback at Cornell University, playing in 27 straight games from his sophomore to senior seasons.

Maguire, now 50, soon got involved in coaching, coming back to BHS where he compiled a record of 132-92-5 entering this season. Maguire was inducted into the BMHS Hall of Fame as an athlete back in 2007.

Besides coaching two football teams, Maguire works for Publishers Circulation Fulfillment Operations as a Manager, while he resides here in town with his wife Glenda and their two children Kaitlyn and Shane.

Regardless of which team or what age group he is coaching, there are simple but important philosophies which inform his approach.

"Kids at this age, they really are just kids," Maguire said. "At every level, no matter where they're from, they approach it with the same enthusiasm and respect as you bring to them as a coach."

It is out of awareness for this responsibility that

Maguire tries to make sure the image he broadcasts for his young players is as a supportive and respectful figure, not ruled by overblown emotion and macho huffing and puffing.

"The yelling and screaming approach can really turn kids off from any sport," Maguire said. "The physical contact of football is not a normal thing, so if you approach them that way, you lose kids. You have to make the game as fun as possible, and hopefully they'll learn something."

For the parents of his players, Maguire's approach is greatly appreciated.

"Every day he stresses to the kids about being leaders and great kids in school, being great teammates to one another and supporting each other," said Joe Maiella. "As my son is a first year player I couldn't have asked for a better person to coach my son."

Maguire has had many opportunities to study what does and does not work when trying to coach a football team. As the leader of both the youngest team on the Pop Warner field, and a squad of varsity athletes, he is keenly aware of how the game changes, and does not change, with the aging of players.

"Even in high school, you're still constantly working on fundamentals and technique," he said. "There's a lot more X's and O's involved, and that's the same at every level. You keep adding X's and O's. What I love about high school and all the way down is that you are still teaching them how to play, it's not about strategies and recruiting."

For his whole life, from his long career as a coach to his childhood throwing a football around in his home's unfinished basement, Maguire has always understood the game.

"Saying (Shawn) was a coach on the field isn't even enough," said his high school coach at the time William O'Donnell to the Burlington Union newspaper back in 2007. "He knew every part of our offense from top to bottom. He truly understood every single part of what we were doing."

Ever since those days of learning the playbook and being a responsible student-athlete, Maguire has maintained an insistence on responsibility that has extended to both his players and to himself as a coach. Maguire is acutely aware of the influence he holds over the impressionable young players who are entrusted to his care.

He said that all started as a child, being one of ten children and having such supporting parents.

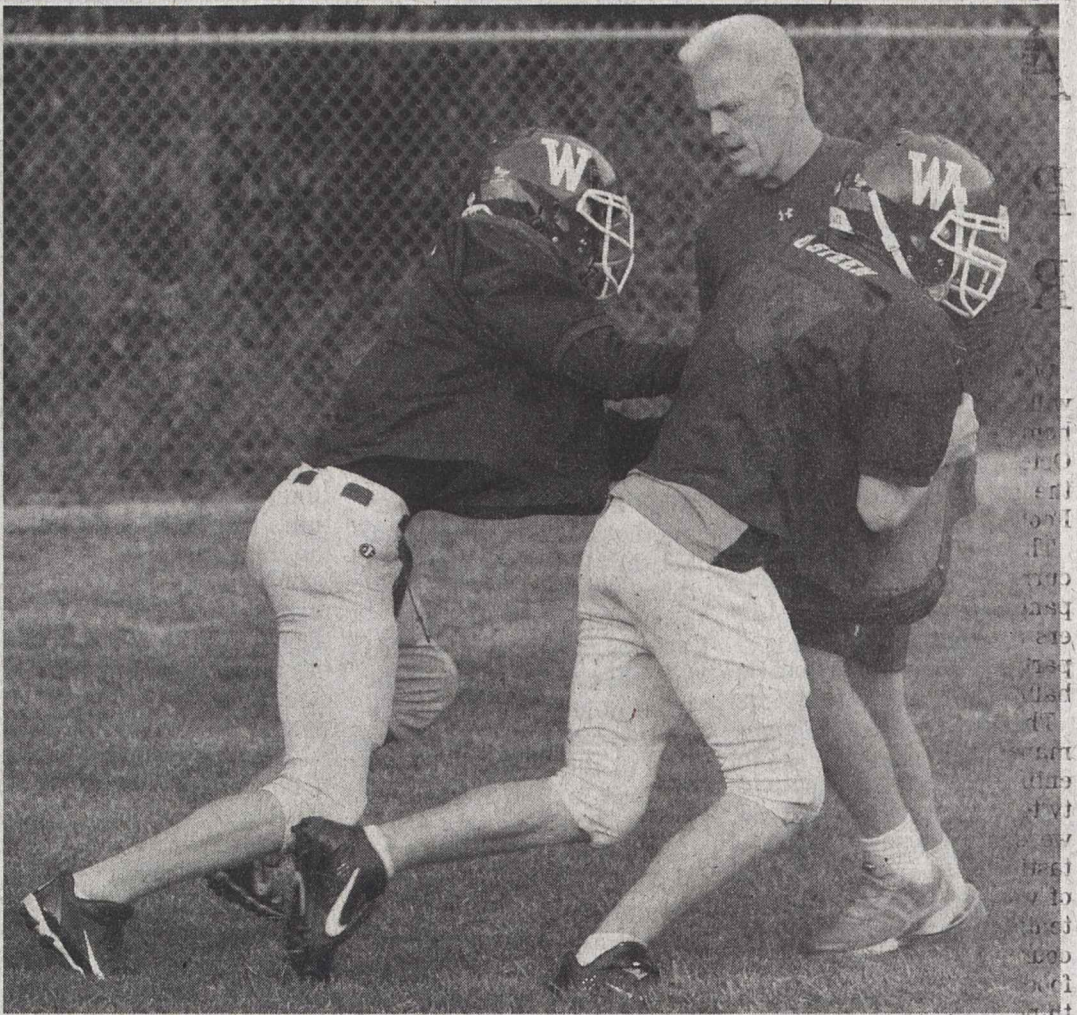

"I've grown up with (football)," Maguire said. "My mom was probably tougher than all the boys, she'd be the first one to tell us to get off the ground and get back to playing."

More than wins or losses, Maguire hopes that the season will provide his players with the same kind of lasting appreciation for the game.

"I want them to love the game, and love each other playing the game," he said. "You have to come away knowing that you need the guy next to you and you can rely on each other."

Maguire is passionate not only for the game itself, but for the qualities and character which the game can build within players who commit to it. And of all the virtues which Maguire believes football can instill, that he as a coach can reinforce, it all comes back to responsibility.

"You have to be accountable," Maguire said. "Young kids this age, especially young boys, they really need that. With all the social media and the stuff that's out there, including in the NFL, it's critical that young men are held accountable. It's critical that they respect so knowledgeable as their coach."

Regardless of the level at which he is coaching, Sullivan maintains the same approach when working with his team.

"I haven't changed my style," he said. "I don't know if that's good or bad, but it seems to work."

For Sullivan, the mark of a successful football squad is the same regardless of age. There is one aspect which takes priority over all others.

"Team," Sullivan said. "They have to all be in it together, and I try to create that team atmosphere. No one is more important than anyone else. However many kids are on that team, they all have to contribute and do their best."

Growing up in Wilmington, football has always been a way of life for Sullivan. Starting as simply a pastime between him and his friends, love for the game has continued to assert itself throughout his life. When his son Andrew, then seven and now 13, joined Pop Warner it was only natural for Sullivan to step in and continue that love.

"I like everything about it, I really do," he said. "I just enjoy coaching football. Whether the kid is 22 or 12, coaching doesn't change."

Over the course of his time with the game, Sullivan has been able to see his work make an impression on young lives that have continued to thrive and prosper as a result of the character they gained during their time on his team.

"When someone comes and calls you coach, it really makes you feel good," Sullivan said. "To know that you instilled them with that kind of respect."

This season will be Sullivan's last with Pop Warner. With five games left and the team continuing to thrive and succeed, it is safe to assume that he will close his time with the program on a very strong note. But for Sullivan, regardless of the age of his players, the most important thing is not the final tally on the score board.

"It is not about winning," he said. "It's about teaching."

were able to do a much better job in the second half."

Wilmington's first missed opportunity of the game came in the first quarter when they drove from their 28-yard line all the way to the AC one yard line before a false start penalty and a five yard loss on a running play returned the ball to the Cougars.

The Wildcats quickly responded to the adversity, however, recovering an AC fumble at the Cougars five yard line. They needed only one play before Jennings burst up the middle for a touchdown, which coupled with Charlie Minghella's conversion rush, made the score 8-0 with 2:23 left in the first quarter.

Wilmington would make no mistakes on their next possession, going on a four play, 60-yard drive and add to their lead early in the second quarter when Beray scored from 15 yards out on a run up the middle with 8:14 left in the first half. The key play on the drive came on a 29-yard run by Jennings on the play just before Beray's scoring run.

Wilmington had a chance to add to their lead late in the half when they drove all the way AC 16 yard line, but three consecutive penalties pushed them back to the 34 yard line and they fumbled on the next play, giving AC the ball back with 31 seconds on the clock.

That was just enough time for Cougars quarterback Christian Rosati, as he connected with Paul Solviletti for a 34-yard gain to the Wilmington 39-yard line and nine yards to Jack Ryan to the 30, before connecting again with Ryan in the back of the end zone from 30 yards out as time expired in the half.

Wilmington extended their lead to 20-7 on the first play of the fourth quarter on an incredible QB sneak by Carraccino, who carried would be tacklers the final five yards of an 11-yard quarterback sneak for the score, literally willing himself into the end zone to make the score 20-7 after the failed extra point rush. The key play on the drive came on a 36-yard run by Beray.

"I can't explain that one," said Barry. "We were just trying to make yards to make a manageable second and third down, but he just didn't go down. Sometimes we do that just because we see something we want to take advantage of. In this case I wish I could say it was great coaching, but the reality is that he just carried the team on his back. No coaching involved in that one."

That scoring drive came shortly after the Wildcats had missed a golden opportunity on their opening drive of the second half, marching ten plays from their 23-yard line to the AC 31 before they were once again done in by a holding penalty and were eventually forced to punt.

The Wildcats would cap the scoring with 5:43 left in the game when Jennings scored his second touchdown of the game, this time from eight yards out. One play earlier, the sophomore had his longest run of the night, a 45-yarder to set up the first and goal.

Barry was obviously impressed by the efforts of both Jennings and Beray on the night, particularly in the absence of Penney.

"They both had career days," Barry said. "They're both great kids. They both work hard. I kind of messed up last week because I wanted to get Sam in the game a little bit but we did not get to. We have always had faith in him, so it was nice to see him do what he did tonight."

Wilmington will be back in action Friday night on the road when they take on Burlington in their Middlesex League Freedom Division opener at 7:00 at Burlington High. Last season the Wildcats were blown out at home by Wilmington by a score of 41-7.

Wilmington Mite 3 Youth Hockey team ends in a wild 8-8 tie

The Wilmington Mite 3 team skated to an 8-8 tie this past Sunday against the Nashua Panthers in Methuen.

Wilmington got out to an early lead with goals from Nolan Joyce, Nick DiGiovanni and Keily Bloom.

While the Wildcats kept the offensive pressure going, Nashua was able to generate some of their own and got some production from their offense despite tremendous goaltending from Lily MacKenzie.

As the game continued, the lead kept going back and forth between the two teams. Wilmington was able to continue their stellar play with help from Ryan Flynn, Derek Perault, Matthew Driscoll, Ryan Quamme and Zach Guyette.

Later in the game, the Panthers took the lead but the Wildcats were able to even it up on a goal from Megan Mullarky. It was a great back and forth game when either could have won.

Squirt IV

Wilmington Squirt 4 coach Pete Mullarky had told his team earlier in the season after a big win that there would be good days and some not so good days during the course of the season, but that the most important thing was to have fun and always give your best effort.

Those words were needed last Saturday for the Wildcats as they ran into a buzzsaw of sorts in an 8-2 loss to the Billerica Squirt A2 team at the Hallenborg Rink in Billerica.

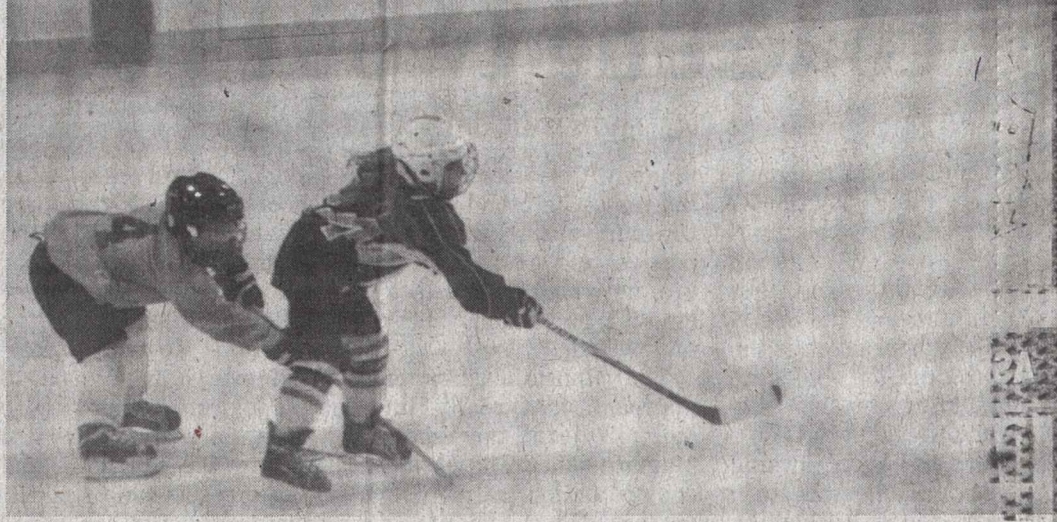

Billerica raced out to a 2-0 lead in the game's opening minute, scoring goals at the 13 second and 48 second mark, but the Wilmington defense, behind the efforts of Jack Seibel, Adam Ippolito, Sean O'Donaghue and Aadarrsh Sivakumar would stiffen and that is how the period would end.

In the second period, despite the best efforts of goalie Jake McLean, who made several great saves to avoid further damage, Billerica would score five times to take a 7-0 lead into the third period.

The Wildcats would respond with two consecutive goals in the third period to pull within 7-2. First, it was Jordan Legere, with an unassisted goal with 7:51 left in the game, and later it was Bobby Dodge with assists going to Dylan Mullarky and Nicholas Spencer.

Although forwards Legere, Dodge, Mullarky, Spencer, Zach Weinstein and Shane Costello continued to apply more pressure the Wildcats could not score again and Billerica added one more goal late in the contest.

Little League holding early registrations for next season

Wilmington Little League has opened online "early" registrations from September 10 through December 31 for returning players, as well as managers, coaches and team parents for the 2015 season on their web site at www.wilmingtonlittleleague.org.

CITATION GIVING NOTICE OF PETITION FOR APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN FOR INCAPACITATED PERSON PURSUANT TO G.L. c 190B, §5-304

In the matter of: Gladys Hernandez Formerly of: Tewksbury, MA RESPONDENT Alleged Incapacitated Person

To the named Respondent and all other interested persons, a petition has been filed by the Department of Mental Health, of Westborough, MA in the above captioned matter alleging that Gladys Hernandez is in need of a Guardian and requesting that the Department of Mental Health of Westborough, MA (or some other suitable person) be appointed as Guardian to serve Without Surety on the bond.

The petition asks the court to determine that the Respondent is incapacitated, that the appointment of a Guardian is necessary, and that the proposed Guardian is appropriate. The petition is on file with this court and may contain a request for certain specific authority. You have the right to object to this proceeding. If you wish to do so, you or your attorney must file a written appearance at this court on or before 10:00 AM on the return date of 11/05/2014. This day is not a hearing date, but a deadline date by which you have to file the written appearance if you object to the petition. If you fail to file the written appearance by the return date, action may be taken in this matter without further notice to you. In addition to filing the written appearance, you or your attorney must file a written affidavit stating the specific facts and grounds of your objection within 30 days after the return date. IMPORTANT NOTICE The outcome of this proceeding may limit or completely take away the above-named person's right to make decisions about personal affairs or financial affairs or both. The above-named person has the right to ask for a lawyer. Anyone may make this request on behalf of the above-named person. If the above-named person cannot afford a lawyer, one may be appointed at State expense. WITNESS, Hon. Edward F. Donnelly, Jr., First Justice of this Court. Date: September 10, 2014 Tara E. GLEN DOHERTY'S SISTER, KATE QUIGLEY, welcomed people to the first Glen Doherty Road Race last October. The race returns this year, on Sunday, in memory of the Winchester native who lost his life in Benghazi, Libya in 2012. Doherty worked as a private security contractor. With 1,000 registered runners last year, Quigley said she's ready for more this year.

By RYAN LAROCHE

"He was an amazing storyteller with a huge smile and a big laugh."

Those words, said by Kate Quigley, describe her brother, Glen Doherty, a Winchester native who lost his life on Sept. 11, 2012 in Benghazi, Libya. At the time, Doherty was doing what he had been doing for most of his life: saving lives.

Doherty and three other men, including the U.S. Ambassador to Libya, Chris Stevens, were killed when militants stormed a U.S. diplomatic post and, hours later, fired on a CIA compound nearby. Doherty had been a working privately for the government when the militants struck. Prior to that, he spent 10 years as a Navy SEAL. So, for 17 years, Doherty's one job in life was to protect other people. Sadly, no one was able to protect him.

Even though he's gone, Doherty is far from forgotten. Last year, his family held a road race in his honor. Although put together on short notice, 1,000 people registered to support the family that includes Quigley and Doherty's mother Barbara, now a Woburn resident.

"Last year was amazing," Quigley said about the turnout on a rainy Sunday in October. "A lot came because they knew Glen and a lot just knew the story."

This year, the race has been moved back a week so as not to conflict with another race in Woburn, the "Step Out for Hospice" walk/run. Last year, a breast cancer walk by Woburn students took place at the same time as the Doherty road race.

"Both communities have been so amazing to us," Quigley said in regards to the outpouring of support her family has received in the almost two years since Doherty died. She said she's already seen a 30 percent increase in the number of registered runners for this year's event.

All the money raised goes to scholarships for members of the special operations community, both for school and vocational use. Quigley said they've already given away eight scholarships this year.

The Glen Doherty Memorial Foundation, which gives away the scholarships, says its mission is to "bring education and recreation to those in need. By paying forward Glen's love for learning and his passion for igniting the spirit through adventure, we aim to bring joy and personal advancement into the lives of many. We do this knowing that Glen's spirit will continue to touch us all."

"Our focus is on providing current and former special operations professionals, from all branches of the government, the means necessary to transition and succeed in civilian life. We are also enabling the children and families of these soldiers the ability to mature and grow through recreation."

The foundation also participates in the Boston Marathon.

While Doherty's death has helped, and will continue to help, those in need, the communities he grew up in have helped, and will continue to help, his family. So far, his neighborhood of Glen Road in Winchester has placed a plaque on a rock that reads "Glen Doherty - National Hero and neighborhood son who lost his life saving fellow Americans, 1970-2012" and his former Winchester High School wrestling team honored him by retiring his number. Since wrestlers don't have numbers, they instead chose a number (20) based on the number of people he saved the day of the attack.

Quigley could not have been more proud. "I was really touched by the Glen Road community," she said about the plaque. "It's a nice place to go back to."

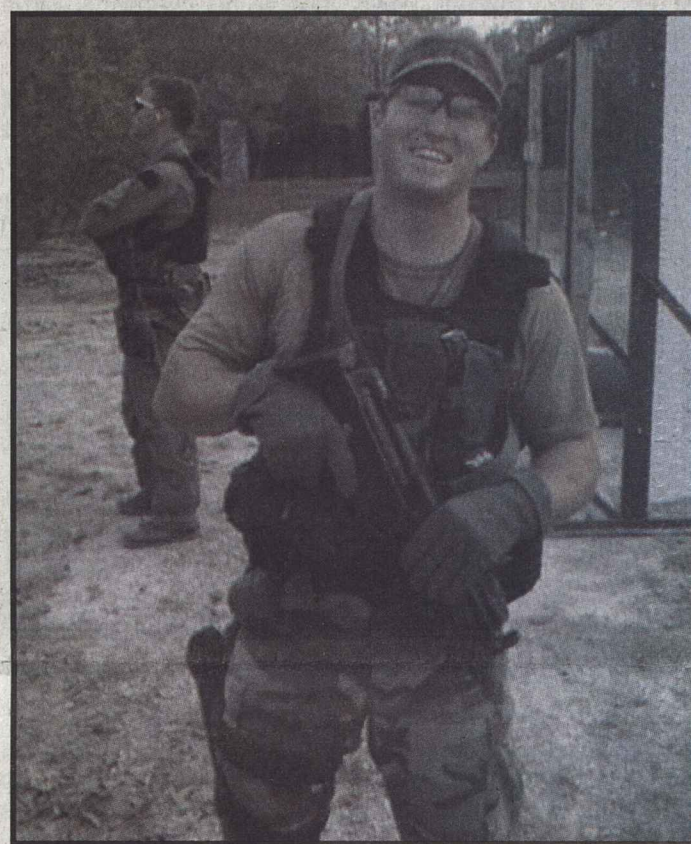

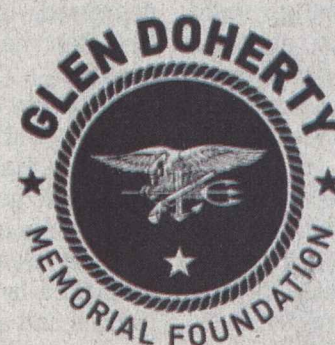

(For those wondering, his sister said that Doherty was not named after the street he grew up on. It was just a coincidence.)

When referring to the retirement ceremony, Quigley pointed out that in times of trouble you know who you can count on.

"When times are good, you know who your friends are. When times are bad, you really know who your friends are. The wrestling team has been really supportive, especially coach (Larry) Tremblay."

Though he spent years overseas helping keep America safe, Doherty managed to return home to Winchester every so often. Quigley said he was last in town a couple years ago visiting friends and eating at Dagostinos.

Movie Reviews by Paul Feely

"This Is Where I Leave You"

"THIS IS WHERE I LEAVE YOU" IS AN ENTERTAINING new comedy featuring a cast of A-listers and up-and-comers.

"THIS IS WHERE I LEAVE YOU"

Scattered siblings with "issues" gather at their mom's home to pay homage to a departed patriarch, opening old wounds and new secrets.

"This Is Where I Leave You" is an entertaining new comedy featuring a cast of A-listers and up-and-comers. And this time the audience cares about their characters: No matter how messed up these folks are, they're relatable and engaging.

Jason Bateman plays Judd Altman, a by-the-books producer for a radio shock jock (Dax Shepard). After his home life and work life intersect in the most humiliating way, Judd is further floored by the death of his father.

The Altman kids weren't raised in a religious household, yet they agree to their Jewish atheist dad's dying wish to return and sit shivah — seven days of prayer and mourning.

"It's going to be hard. It's going to be uncomfortable. And we're going to get on each other's nerves," says brassy mom Hillary (Jane Fonda).

Adding to the discomfort: Hillary is a best-selling psychologist who became famous for detailing her kids' adolescent tribulations in her book "Cradle and All."

Judd may be justifiably depressed, but the rest of his clan have their own problems. Older brother Paul (Corey Stoll) is married to Judd's ex-girlfriend (Kathryn Hahn), and their struggle to get pregnant has put them in a tailspin.

Sister Wendy (Tina Fey) is flanked by potty-training rugrats and an affluent husband who pays more attention to his cellphone. Little brother Phillip (Adam Driver), a reckless stoner, brings an older woman (Connie Britton) as his date ... who is also his psychologist.

Even though the children think this is ridiculous, it forces the Altmans to do something rare: talk with one another.

As Hollywood's resident specialist at portraying disgraced-yet-smarmy heroes, Bateman anchors the film. Even when saddled with one of cinema's most cliched scenes — finding the wife (Abigail Spencer) in bed with another man — he manages to create an emotionally resonant moment. Later, he extracts humor from simple reactions, as when he is relegated to sleeping in the family's unfinished basement, littered with life-size cardboard cutouts of Hillary pimping her book.

Meanwhile, Fey perfectly embodies the no-nonsense sister who was forced to raise her troublesome brothers when their mom was away. After drifting through mediocre comedies such as "Admission" and "Date Night", Fey gets to shine

This is a movie where the characters are more interesting than the plot twists or comedic throw-downs (of which there are plenty).

"THE SKELETON TWINS"

It's difficult to walk into a film without at least some idea of what you're about to watch. You're usually going to have some opinion on the actors, the director, the concept and so on. With that said, I stepped into The Skeleton Twins expecting the kind of quirky family-ties comedy that's typical of SNL veterans Bill Hader and Kirsten Wiig, its two stars. What I got instead was a surprisingly nuanced film, a tale of an estranged and broken pair of people rallying together in one final attempt to sort their messy existences out.

Hader and Wiig play Milo and Maggie, respectively, a pair of emotionally and geographically estranged twins. When Milo's failed suicide attempt leaves Maggie with little option but to take him in, the two of them embark on a staggered voyage of reconnection and recollection. There are a few peripheral characters, like Maggie's husband played by Luke Wilson and an absolutely wonderful supporting turn from Ty Burrell, but this is Maggie and Milo's story first and everything else second.

These are believable people, foibles and all, and the film has such a good heart that you don't begrudge Maggie and Milo their mistakes — that's just the way people are.

The Skeleton Twins is a very pleasant surprise and a wonderful comedy-drama made with heart and filled with plenty of broken ones.

At Hillview Country Club 15th Annual Reading Rotary Auction Saturday

The Reading Rotary Club will hold its 15th annual Auction on Saturday evening September 27 at 6 p.m. and this year it will be held at the Hillview Country Club in North Reading. Always a huge success, there will be close to 100 items available in both a "silent" and a "live" format.

The general public is invited to attend with the silent auction starting at 6:00 pm. There will be a tremendous amount of food served throughout the evening. There will also be a cash bar and a number of raffle prizes.

All proceeds from the evening go towards scholarships for the Reading Scholarship Foundation, Peter Sanborn Van, Rotoplast, Reading Public Library, several school projects like Arbor Day trees and dictionaries and many other worthwhile Rotary projects.

Tickets for the event are available at the Davis, Clark & Latham Insurance and the Peter Sanborn Place, Reading Chronicle as well as from Reading Rotary members.

This year the topic for the event is October Fest. The cost is $30.00 and you don't have to bid on any item; or bid on as many as you want. There are lots of great deals on both small and large items. There's something for everyone. It is just a fun filled evening with a ton of laughs and lots of great bid items.

Probably the two most popular auctioneers in Reading, Steve Chuha and John Douglass will act as auctioneers and if you haven't seen them, you've missed an hilarious act. They have fun and they have tons of values. This is their only stand-up performance of the year. Come and enjoy.

BOOKS TRIUMPH, SUBJECTS DEEPEN, SCHOOLS RULE

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

READ ALL ABOUT IT (WINCHESTER)

"Winchester's 13th community read this fall is 'Love Anthony,' a novel by Lisa Genova," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The first of three programs relating to the book - a panel discussion 'How Does Autism Affect Me?' - will be held on Thursday evening, Oct. 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the Jenks Center, 109 Skillings Road.

"The novel presents insights into autism - or at least one child's form of autism - and what it might be like to be a parent of an autistic person. According to a Boston Globe article on March 28, autism rates in children are rising and currently the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimate that one in 68 children are on the autism spectrum.

"Given that so many of us know a child who is on the autism spectrum or have a friend or relative who has someone in their family, we think it is important to learn more about this disorder," says Connie Stolor, Winchester Reads Coordinator. "We are all affected in some way, either directly or indirectly," she says, "so we have invited four panelists who will expand our understanding—of autism itself, of what it's like to be a parent, what police and fire should know when they are called to a home and the impact on our community."

"Speakers include Dr.

Margaret Bauman, a pioneer in the study of autism; Cathy Boyle, president of Autism Housing Pathways; Captain Bill Cannata, educator of first responders in rescuing individuals with autism, and Anne Kostos, ADA Coordinator for the Town of Winchester. The panel will be facilitated by Sahar Ahmed Awerbuch, founder of Brio Integrated Theatre and a Multicultural Network Board member.

"All are welcome to the program which is free. For more information contact the Winchester Multicultural Network at 781-729-7100 or email office@wmcn.org ..."

WELL PUT ... (WILMINGTON)

"William Holt, the Assistant Town Engineer, came before the Board of Selectmen ... to offer updates on the Kinder Morgan Pipeline and the Northeast Municipal Gas Pipeline Coalition, of which he is an observing member.

"As the proposal currently stands, the pipeline, according to Holt, will run through Salem Street. It also goes through conservation land, and it is within 400 feet of a public well.

"In total, it passes through twenty-one properties, thirteen of which are commercial and eight of which are town-owned. One-third of it travels along the old railroad bed. The pipeline itself, if built, will run through much of the northeast—including Pennsylvania and New York—and it'll end up at the coast.

"Though the Coalition publicly maintains a neutral posture, it is actually opposed to the pipeline project, Holt said. Paul Alunni, the Town Engineer, said that 'it sounds like there are a lot of conflicting statistics' and interests at play.

"Having heard from Kinder Morgan and the Coalition, Holt said that the solution is probably somewhere in the middle...

SCHOOL RULES (READING)

"Two new policies were unanimously approved by the Reading School Committee at a recent meeting," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Both policies were necessary to bring the local schools into compliance with recently enacted state laws regarding disciplinary due process and background checks of employees and certain volunteers through fingerprinting in the national data base. The new law and resultant local policy sets out the disciplinary due process rights of the student and requires the schools to provide the opportunity for suspended students to make academic progress during their suspension.

"The seven levels of disciplinary action are: 1. Loss of Privileges; 2. Teacher Detention; 3. Office Detention; 4. Saturday Detention (middle school and high school only); 5. In School Suspension; 6. Out of School Suspension; and 7. Expulsion.

"A 12 page administrative guideline that implements the policy is included in the student handbooks...."

"About the Towns" covers recent events in the 10-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper or look on line for up-to-date information about your city or town.

We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About the Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, 531 Main St., Reading, MA 01867 or to schooltowns@comcast.net.

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Louisville and Michigan played for the NCAA Division I men's basketball championship in 2013 with Louisville winning the title. What other two teams made it to the Final Four?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

The Southern New Hampshire University men's tennis team opened its season with a 9-0 blanking of Saint Anselm College at the SNHU courts. The Penmen are now 1-0 overall and in the league, while the Hawks are 0-2 overall and in league play.

The Penmen started four freshmen and all were double winners on the afternoon. Emerson Kelby (Ontario, N.Y.) was a 6-3, 6-3 winner at No. 1 singles, while Xavier Aubron (Herouville, France) won 6-0, 6-1 at No. 2. Peter Wylie (Cedar Grove, N.J.) was a 6-0, 6-2 winner at No. 3, while Jeremy Reichenthal (Cheshire, Conn.) posted a 6-0 win at No. 6.

SENIORS EVAN EATON (WINCHESTER, MASS.) and Brad Malenich (Sharon, Mass.) posted wins at Nos. 4 and 5 singles, respectively.

•Freshman Jessica Perkins (Shrewsbury, Mass.) and senior April Regan (Berlin, Conn.) each won a pair of matches to pace the Saint Anselm College women's tennis team as it posted a 7-2 victory against Franklin Pierce University at the Saint Anselm Outdoor Tennis Courts.

The Hawks capture their second straight match to even their record at 2-2 on the season and in Northeast-10 play, while the Ravens fall to 0-2, 0-2 NE-10.

Freshman Meghan Golden (Scituate, Mass.) defeated Sonia Rodrigues, 6-1, 6-2, in No. 2 singles. Junior Leah Fitzgerald (Bedford, N.H.) earned a win in her No. 4 singles match against Rogers, 6-1, 6-3, while JUNIOR COURTNEY RUSSELL (NO. READING, MASS.), toppled Quagliano, 6-2, 6-0, at No. 5 singles.

•Need some help with the trivia question? Syracuse is one of them.

•Jackie Hozza (Sinking Spring, Pa.) recorded two assists for the University of New Hampshire field hockey team, but Northeastern University scored with 2:19 remaining in regulation for a 3-2 non-conference victory at Dedham Field.

UNH, which had won four straight in the series vs. the Huskies, is now 1-5 on the season while NU improved to 3-2. The Wildcats recorded a 12-9 shot advantage and the penalty corners were even at 6.

Lindsey Nerbonne (Bow, N.H.) and Lynne Lehman (Landisburg, Pa.) were New Hampshire's goal scorers and Meg Flatley (Townsend, Mass.) was also credited with an assist. Hozza's assists were the first points of her career. CARLIE TARBELL (WAKEFIELD, MASS.) made six saves.

Doherty From S-1

That day and the aftermath

After the attack, Quigley got the phone call she said she hopes "no one ever receives."

She said, "I thought he was invincible. I knew it was possible, but I never thought it could happen."

Things happened so fast after that day that Quigley called the funeral a blur. Most times after an unexpected death families are running around trying to coordinate everything. In Doherty's case, the government stepped in the next day with support.

"I never expected everything that happened," Quigley said about the funeral, "I'm still humbled by it."

She heard the news of her brother's passing via a phone call from the government, though due to the sensitive nature of the incident, they couldn't reveal much.

"I was really in shock the next morning when the press called," she said. "The government couldn't tell me anything, because it was classified, but there was a lot of misinformation out there."

Currently, a lot of the information is being questioned in Washington. There have been numerous committee hearings about the attack to the point where Democrats and Republicans seem to be fighting more about why there are so many hearings as opposed to why the attack happened in the first place.

Republicans believe the Democrats lied, while Democrats believe the Republicans are just trying to sabotage Hillary Clinton's bid for the White House. Unfortunately, Quigley has to keep up with it all.

"I don't let it bother me," she said about the news. "You have to pay attention (though) when you run a foundation. I don't get involved in politics (and) Benghazi is a very political word."

Who is Glen Doherty?

Besides being a wrestler and an ex-Navy SEAL, Doherty was an adrenaline junkie whose first passion was skiing. Therefore, it would seem only natural that an adrenaline junkie would transition to the ultimate rush: serving in the United States Army, Navy, Air Force or Marines. However, when Doherty told his family, they were taken aback.

"He dropped the bomb on us one day," Quigley said about hearing the news that her brother wanted to join the SEALs. "I never, ever would have predicted it."

But, like he always does, Quigley said, Doherty attacked it 150 percent. Only the best of the best qualify to be a Navy SEAL meaning that Doherty had that extra special quality. Of course, if you qualify you have to actually go and do it. That can be scary, especially for the family.

"My mother was nervous, proud, scared," Quigley said when they found out he had made it. "Serving the country is not an easy way of life."

At one point, Doherty returned home after 9/11 and spoke to the Daily Times Chronicle about what he had seen over in Iraq and the Middle East. It seemed he had an appreciation for the severity of the situation America found itself in. In fact, Quigley said one of her brother's proudest moments was being a part of the fall of Saddam Hussein.

Moving forward

The hardest part about losing a loved one is figuring out what to do next. The Doherty family seems to have a good

"We did a great job of putting offensive pressure on them," UNH 24th-year head coach Robin Balducci said. "We had the possession, the corners and the shots but didn't put enough on goal to be threatening. Their last two goals, both on corners, were very well set up. So it was well done by them."

•Three individuals from Eastern Connecticut State University have been recognized during the second weekly Little East Conference fall awards program.

JUNIOR WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL LIBERO

ALLIE LUPPI (TEWKSBURY, MA) and sophomore field hockey sweeper Alexandra Steward (Old Saybrook) were named Defensive Player-of-the-Week in their respective sports, while freshman women's soccer forward Emily Becher (Brooklyn) was selected as Rooke-of-the-Week.

Luppi was named MVP when Eastern (4-1) swept three wins and the title of the Newbury College Invitational over the weekend. In the tournament, Luppi handled 44 reception attempts with a .909 success rate and collected a team-high 43 digs (5.38 per set). Luppi also recorded 15 service aces and a .944 serve percentage on 54 attempts when Eastern won nine of ten sets against Suffolk University, Castleton State University and host Newbury.

In five matches this year, Luppi leads the team in digs per set (4.71), reception percentage (.954) and reception attempts (109).

Tewksbury's Bettano Worcester State to a 38-6 triumph over Anna Maria in non-conference football

The AMCATS were paced offensively by junior Will Richard (Billerica, MA) who gobbled up 11 passes for 127 yards. CLASSMATE CHRIS BETTANO (TEWKSBURY, MA) rushed for 49 yards and one score while sophomore Daniel Faison (Bowie, MD) compiled 149 yards of total offense - including 79 on kick returns.

Defensively, the Blue and Gold finished with eight team sacks highlighted by three for a loss of 23 yards by SENIOR SEAN HANLEY (WILMINGTON, MA).

Weekly Feature HomeNewsHere RECIPE Blueberry Cheesecake Bars

Prize-Winning Recipe! Love cheesecake? Add a blueberry layer, and delight in every creamy bite of this cheesecake bar.

1) Heat oven to 350°F. Spray bottom and sides of 13x9-inch pan with cooking spray. In large bowl, beat cookie mix, butter and egg with electric mixer on low speed until soft dough forms. Press in bottom of pan.

2) Bake 15 minutes. Cool 10 minutes. Meanwhile, in another large bowl, beat cream cheese and sugar with mixer on medium speed until fluffy. Add whipping cream and eggs; beat on low speed until well blended.

3) Spread spreadable fruit over partially cooled crust. Sprinkle with blueberries. Pour cream cheese mixture evenly over blueberries, spreading gently to cover.

4) Bake 40 to 45 minutes or until center is set. Cool 30 minutes. Refrigerate at least 2 hours. For bars, cut into 7 rows by 4 rows. Store covered in refrigerator.

Locals perform in Rising Stars Musical Review

Rising Stars Productions recently presented the musical revue "Not the Status Quo" in North Reading. The review featured renditions of performances from such musical hits as High School Musical, My Fair Lady, Oliver!, Annie, Miss Saigon, Seussical the Musical, Newsies, Shenandoah, and Cinderella.

Rising Stars attracts young people from several area towns, including North Reading, Beverly, Woburn, Wilmington, Salem, Arlington, and Wakefield. The Rising Stars who performed in this summer's musical revue were: Nadine Adisho, Haley Ahern, Olivia Arenburg, Shaelyn Farley, Morgan Higgs, Hannah Lord, Victoria Marques, Kenny Mills, Michael Mills, Abby Moline, Alice O'Brien, Gabrielle Pandolfo, and Maddy Zambello. Many of these young artists performed solos or leading roles during each musical piece. The performers were supported by Artistic Director Kim Lamoureux, Music Director Ellen Allen, Choreographer Jade Mears, Accompanists Paul Crompton and Samuel Nelson, Stage Manager Nicole Ledoux, and intern Nicole Tetreault.

Rising Stars Productions was founded in 2012 by Kim Lamoureux and Ellen Allen. Each summer Rising Stars Productions holds a week long musical theater intensive camp for children and teens ages 10-18. Campers work with experienced and professional staff to hone their singing, acting, and dancing skills in a challenging, but supportive environment. Rising Stars prides itself on individualized instruction, and giving each camper the chance to grow and shine. In addition to its annual summer camp, Rising Stars will also be hosting acting and singing workshops in the winter and spring of 2015.

Rising Stars Productions can be found on Facebook and also on the web at www.rising-stars-productions.com.

Sign up by October 3rd for Deer hunt in Parker River Refuge

In Newburyport

A controlled white-tailed deer hunt has been scheduled for Wednesday, December 3, 2014, at Parker River National Wildlife Refuge, Newburyport, Massachusetts. As an integral part of a comprehensive Refuge Wildlife Management Program, this annual hunt helps maintain the deer population at a level commensurate with the available habitat while providing recreational opportunities for the hunting public.

The hunt is by Refuge permit only with a maximum of 35 hunters, including up to 4 paraplegic hunters and 15 standbys, to be selected by public lottery on Tuesday, October 7, 2014 at 4:00 pm at Refuge Headquarters, 6 Plum Island Turnpike in Newburyport.

To apply for a permit, send a single 3" x 5" card containing your complete name, address, daytime phone number and Massachusetts deer hunting license number to Refuge Headquarters. To allow for two people to hunt together on the same day, up to two hunters may apply on the same single 3" x 5" card but all the required information must be included on the card for both applicants.

Only one Paraplegic hunter is required for a buddy team to qualify for the paraplegic hunt lottery. A paraplegic hunter may also have an assistant who is not allowed to hunt and whose name and other information should not be included on the application. A paraplegic hunter should note "paraplegic" on his/her application card so as to ensure entry into the paraplegic hunt lottery. Only one application is permitted per party. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be submitted, one for each hunter, with the application. All applications must be received by COB, Friday October 3, 2014.

Successful applicants must attend a one hour Refuge Hunter Safety & Orientation Program scheduled for the morning of Saturday, November 22 at 9:00 am or the make-up orientation on Monday, November 24 at 6:00 pm. Both sessions will be held at the Refuge Headquarters. The lottery winners will be charged a $20 permit fee to participate in the Refuge hunt with the fee reduced to $10 for holders of valid Golden Age or Access Passports.

The hunt zone will consist of approximately 1400 acres on the Plum Island section of the Refuge. To ensure public safety, the entire Plum Island section will be closed to all other activities for the day of the hunt.

For further information contact Refuge Headquarters located at 6 Plum Island Turnpike Newburyport, MA 01950, or phone 978-465-5753. Office hours are Monday - Friday, 8 am - 4:00 pm, excluding federal holidays.

Sales of single family homes down in August

Fewer Americans bought homes in August, as investors retreated from real estate and first-time buyers remained scarce.

Sales of existing homes fell 1.8 percent to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 5.05 million, the National Association of Realtors said Monday. That snaps a four-month streak of gains. August sales are down from a July rate of 5.14 million, a figure that was revised slightly downward.

Much of the decline came from the exodus of investors, who had been buying properties in the aftermath of the housing bust and recession. Investors accounted for just 12 percent of August purchases, compared to 17 percent a year earlier.

Overall, the pace of home sales has dropped 5.3 percent year-over-year.

The August figures show that real estate recovery has depended largely on investors and all-cash sales, instead of families looking to purchasing a house.

"It is apparent that much of the juice in the existing-home sales market remains centered in all-cash purchases by speculative buyers," said Joshua Shapiro, chief U.S. economist at the consulting firm MFR.

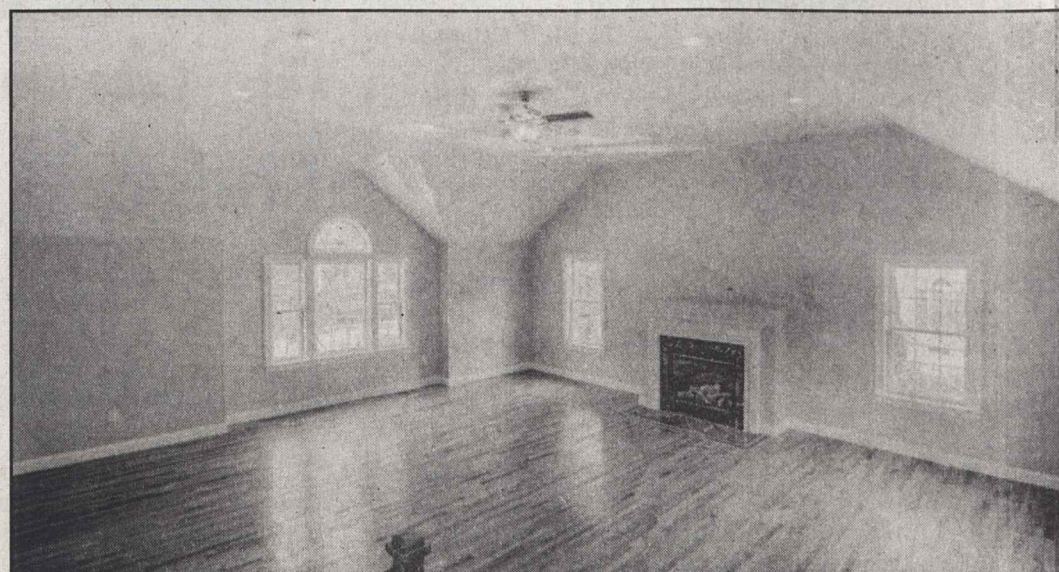

The rebound from the housing bust that triggered the recession has been painfully slow. The share of Americans who own homes has trended downward over the course of the five year recovery, as more Americans are becoming renters. The ownership rate fell to 64.7 percent through the middle of this year, down from a peak of 69.2 percent toward the end of 2004, according to the Census Bureau.

Sales were curbed by winter storms earlier in the year. They began to accelerate through the summer as mortgage rates eased back from 52-week highs. But the combination of rising home prices last year and sluggish wage growth has limited sales.

Rising prices through much of 2013 and weak income growth priced out many would-be buyers. Only 29 percent of purchases in August came from first-time buyers, well below the historical average of 40 percent.

The median sales price has risen 4.8 percent over the past 12 months to $219,800, but it slipped slightly in August compared to prices in July and June.
